ESTABLISHED IN 1897. GREENSBORO, N C, SUNDAY MORNING MARCH 26, 1911. VOL 14. NO. 203.

E. C. DEAL MANAGER OF PUBLIC SERVICE PROPERTIES IN GA.

Will Have Charge of Electric Companies in Augusta Ga., in Connection With Duties as Manager of Local Company—Will still Make Greensboro his Home.

E. C. Deal, manager of the North Carolina Public Service Company, has been appointed general manager of the Augusta Railway & Electric Company and the Augusta & Aiken Railway Company, of Augusta, Ga., and will enter upon his duties in connection with the above companies April 1. These properties have recently been acquired by Redman & Company and J. G. White & Co., of New York.

Mr. Deal still retains his connection with the North Carolina Public Service Company and the policies of this company will not be changed. Mr. Deal will divide his time between the two cities and during his absence from Greensboro C. H. Andrews, who was recently appointed assistant manager, will be in charge of the local properties. Mr. Deal stated last night that he would continue to make Greensboro his home, for the present at least. As to how much of his time would be devoted to the Augusta properties he could not say until he had looked into the conditions of the plants there. Mr. Deal will also continue to act as engineer of other public service properties owned by W. N. Coler & Co. in different parts of the United States.

Mr. Deal came to Greensboro something more than two years ago to assume charge of the local property of W. N. Coler & Company, who had just purchased the local gas and electric plant. The entire system was entirely inadequate to meet the needs of the town. The gas service was very poor, the electric service, both power and lighting, very inadequate and the street railway service as uncertain as the weather. Mr. Deal at once began to remedy the trouble and little by little the service of the company was improved until today the service in all departments is unexcelled in any city in the South. As manager of the local company Mr. Deal has been most courteous to every one and has won the confidence and esteem of every person with whom he has come in contact. Greensboro people will be glad to learn of this deserved recognition of his abilities as manager of public service properties and they will also be glad to learn that his new duties will not cause him to take his family from the city, every member of which have become favorites with all their acquaintances.

Mr. Deal was seen by a reporter last night and asked regarding the various public service companies with which he has been connected. "I got my early experience," Mr. Deal said, "with the Georgia Electric Light Company (now the Georgia Railway & Electric Company.) I was with them from 1894 to 1898, during which time I worked my way through practically all departments. I then went with Stone & Webster, of Boston, and in various capacities was connected with their properties in Baltimore, Seattle, Brockton and Terre Haute. I left them in 1904 to go with the Gas & Electric Co., of Bergin county, New Jersey, as chief engineer, having charge of their properties in more than forty municipalities in the northern part of New Jersey, and shortly afterwards when this company was absorbed by the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey. I was made general superintendent of the latter company's electric properties in the central part of New Jersey, and left them in 1908 to go with the banking house of W. N. Coler & Co., of New York, as general manager of the North Carolina Public Service Company, and at the same time acting as engineer on other public service properties owned by W. N. Coler & Co. in different parts of the country."

REVIVAL AT REFORMED CHURCH BEGINS THIS MORNING.

Revival services begin at the First Reformed church today at 11 a. m. Services each night during the week at 8 o'clock. Rev. J. L. Murphy, D. D., of Hickory, will assist the pastor. Dr. Murphy is an excellent preacher and will no doubt be heard by large congregations. He has been pastor of Corinth Reformed church, Hickory, for 20 years.

ANNUAL MEETING OF GOOD ROADS ASS'N

Old Officers Re-elected and Practical Plans Discussed for Aiding Good Roads Progress in County—Association to be Represented at National Meeting.

The Guilford County Good Roads Association held its first annual meeting Saturday morning in the assembly room of the Chamber of Commerce, President J. Van Lindley presiding. Secretary S. L. Trogdon read a very satisfactory report of the work of the association during the past several months and there was extended informal discussion of several phases of the good roads movement, mainly applicable to Guilford county conditions. The directors and officers of the organization were all unanimously reelected for the ensuing year, as follows:

J. Van Lindley, president; F. N. Tate, first vice president; J. L. King, second vice president; S. L. Trogdon, secretary and treasurer. In addition to the officers the board of directors is composed of C. G. Wright, J. A. Davidson and R. D. Douglas.

The discussions of the association covered several points in connection with the inauguration of the new road working system in Guilford county, under which system there is in each township three commissioners having in charge the management and oversight of the roads. Several members of the association are township road commissioners, and some of these gentlemen were present and at their suggestion it was determined to have a committee of the body call upon the County Commissioners and ask them to name a date for a joint meeting of the township road commissioners and the Good Roads Association. The secretary of the association will write letters to the chairmen of the eighteen township boards, explaining the intent of this meeting. It will be held after the township commissioners have had their several meetings and formally organized. The meeting will be in the nature of a conference of the commissioners and good roads advocates and will be held for the purpose of planning, if possible, a uniform system for county road work.

The split log drag as a road implement came in for a large share of attention. It was the concensus of opinion that the log drag is superior to the steel drag which is now being manufactured and it was decided to advise the road commissioners of the county to use the home made drag instead of the foreigh made machine. The log drag costs about one-fourth of the price of the steel drag, and is preferable for various reasons. The opinion was freely expressed that each township should have from six to twelve log drags, and an effort will be made to have the township commissioners give a single contract for all the drags needed for the county. This will reduce the cost and secure uniformity of construction.

As a result of the efforts of the County Association four township good roads associations have been organized. An effort will be made to organize every one of the townships in the county. The County Association has increased its membership from 25 to more than a hundred, and new members are being added frequently. The treasurer's report showed a small amount of money on hand.

Delegates were appointed to attend the Fourth National Good Roads Congress, which is the annual meeting of the National Good Roads Association, and convenes in Birmingham, Ala., May 23, 24, 25 and 26. J. Van Lindley, S. L. Trogdon and J. T. Fain were appointed to represent the Guilford Association at this convention and President Lindley was empowered to appoint other delegates at will. The association also instructed the secretary to secure photographs of sections of Guilford county roads and data relating to road building in this county and furnish to the delegates to the Good Roads Congress. The photographs will be displayed during the convention in Birmingham and will prove a source of valuable publicity for Guilford's good roads.

Good Roads Meeting.

Next Saturday afternoon at three o'clock a meeting of the good roads association of Sumner township will be held at Hall's school house. The township commissioners of Sumner and Morehead will be present at this meeting.

INDIANS CLAIM 26,000 ACRES OF BERTIE LAND

Chief in Raleigh Investigating Claims---Papers Saved by General Grimes---Y. M. C. A. Campaign Moves to Successful Consummation.

Raleigh, March 25.—General Order No. 4 just from the office of Adjutant General Leinster of the North Carolina National Guard provides for meets for rifle and pistol practice competition on the Raleigh, Goldsboro and Gastonia rifle ranges in the near future. The order directs that target practice and shooting teams for the Third infantry meet in Raleigh April 18 to 20; teams from the second infantry in Goldsboro April 25 to 27 and teams from the First infantry in Gastonia May 3 to 5. The teams are to be chosen by the company commanders. Special course "C" will be followed in the shooting. The team making the best record in all three of the contests will be awarded the "Dupont Trophy," a massive silver cup. There will be suitable prizes for the teams in each regiment making the highest and second highest records.

Charters Issued.

A charter was issued today for the Mercantile and Machine Co., Laurel Hill, capital $10,000, by A. J. Campbell and others. Also charters for the Richardson-Sloan Co., Kannapolis, Cabarrus county, capital $20,000, by L. M. Richardson and others for mercantile business, and the Hayes Co., Randleman, capital $25,000, by P. A. Hayes and others for mercantile business.

House Breaker Pardoned.

Declaring that the state has already had all the life of the prisoner except the shattered end, Governor Kitchin grants a pardon for B. S. Gates, Buncombe county, who was in 1901 sentenced to be hanged for burglary and commuted to life imprisonment by Governor Aycock and had his health to break down thereafter so that he is drawn with rheumatism and partially paralized. The pardon is recommended by the solicitor and a lodge of Odd Fellows that employed counsel to aid in the prosecution. The prisoner stood on the outside of a store and watched while two accomplices, one of whom was hanged and the other died, entered the place.

Officers Commissioned.

W. S. Barefield was today commissioned as first and Clyde C. Craig as second lieutenant of Company B. First Infantry, Gastonia, today by Adjutant General Leinster.

Indian Claims.

The Tuscarora Indians of New York state are taking the preliminary steps for litigation that will give to them a revertal right in 26,000 acres of land in Bertie county that were granted to the Tuscaroras of North Carolina back in the early part of the eighteenth century when the tribe in this state was moved from the New Bern section. The 26,000 grant now in question is on the larger tracts of it now being owned by State Senator Rasco, T. Gilliam, C. W. Spruill and others. The Indians later it seems, leased the lands, ultimately to the state and left for New York state to join their kinspeople residing there. The leases were later made uniform to expire in 1916, this giving rise to the claim now to be set up by the Indians. Chief Mount Pleasant, of the Indian tribe arrived here from their New York preserve today and presented himself at the office of the secretary of state to investigate the records in the office of the state department as they bear on the Indian transaction. Colonel Grimes, secretary of state, placed the papers in the case at his disposal and he will spend some days here. Among the papers, however, is one that is rather discouraging as a starter. It is a deed on the part of the Indian chiefs definitely deeding to the state all rights of the Indians to revertal rights in the

EDWARD THOMPSON SPEAKS ON SABBATH OBSERVANCE TODAY

Edward Thompson, L. L. D., who was secretary of the last "World's Congress" and is known over the world as a thinker and an orator, will spend Sunday in Greensboro and will deliver three of his great discourses as follows: At 11:15 a. m., in the First Presbyterian church, subject "Reason on the Side of Sunday Rest." At 4 p. m. in West Market Street Methodist church, subject "The Duty of the Hour." At 7:30 p. m. in the First Baptist church, subject, "True Americanism."

Every thinker ought to hear Dr. Thompson. The ablest men of the country who have heard him speak in the highest praise of his discourses.

Large Audience Heard Mr. Debs.

The Grand Opera House was filled to probably two-thirds of its capacity Saturday night by an audience assembled to hear Eugene V. Debs, the Socialist leader. His manager, George D. Brewer, made a short address preceding the lecture, and Mr. Debs was then presented by David Clark, a local Socialist leader.

The audience addressed by Mr. Debs was a representative one, many of the leading citizens of the city being present. The speaker appeared to be in his usual form and delivered a characteristic socialistic speech. It was received with enthusiasm by the Socialists present and was heard with evident interest by others.

Reciting Contest At Jamestown.

There will be a reciting contest given in the Jamestown high school auditorium on Monday, April 3, at 8 o'clock. The public is invited.

JOHN WYLIE FOUND NOT GUILTY OF SIMPLE ASSAULT

Pal Ballinger was arraigned in Municipal court yesterday morning on the charge of gambling, there being two cases against him. He was found guilty in each case and in one case was fined $25 and costs. In the other case motion for judgment was continued pending the good behavior of the defendant, he to report to the court during the next two years.

Sallie Williams was given a hearing on the charge of larceny, Judge Eure sending her to the workhouse for a term of four months.

Stanley Williams, the negro who was fined $15 and costs on Friday for an assault, was sent to the roads for 60 days in default of payment of the fine and costs.

John Wylie was arraigned on the charge of assaulting Mrs. W. W. Leigh, the prosecuting attorney, after hearing the evidence, asking that the defendant be found not guilty. The evidence was somewhat conflicting, being about as given in The Telegram the morning after the occurrence. The negro admitted that he was drinking and Judge Eure severly reprimanded him for being in a drunken condition while at work.

Exhibit Old Pictures.

Charleston, S. C., March 25.—Rosa Bonheuer's famous painting "Old Darby," said to be worth fifty thousand dollars is being exhibited here, attracting much attention.

Eleven Deaths From Plague.

Moy, China, March 25.—Eleven deaths from bubonic plague and six deaths from smallpox were reported within the city during the two past weeks.

W. A. Scott, of Raleigh, is here to spend Sunday with his family.

A. W. COOKE MADE COUNTY CHAIRMAN

Now Leader of Guilford Democracy—Elected Yesterday to Succeed E. G. Sherrill, Resigned—New Chairman one of Leading Party Workers in the County.

At the meeting of the Guilford County Democratic Executive Committee yesterday morning E. G. Sherrill tendered his resignation as chairman. This was accepted and A. Wayland Cooke was elected to succeed Mr. Sherrill. Mr. Sherrill will shortly accept a position that will take him out of the city a great deal and he could not arrange for the next campaign. Secretary Collins also tendered his resignation, but it was not accepted. S. L. Davis resigned as township chairman for South High Point and Geo. A. Matton was elected to succeed him. The members of the committee were represented mainly by proxy, there being only three members present.

Mr. Cooke, the new chairman, came to Greensboro ten years ago. During these years he has been one of the most active Democrats in the county. He was for years chairman of the County Board of Elections, and has been a member of the State Executive Committee. As chairman of the Congressional Executive Committee and as manager of Major Stedman's campaign in his recent contest, he exhibited great ability and powers of organization.

Not only is he a zealous Democrat and a good speaker, but he has won an enviable reputation as a lawyer, having been of counsel in some of the most important litigation in the county. There is no doubt that he will leave nothing undone to promote the interests of the party in this county.

FAST TRAIN PLUNGES INTO RIVER; SEVEN PERSONS KILLED

Ocilla, Ga., March 25.—Seven persons were killed and more than a dozen injured when train No. 95, known as the Dixie flyer, and running between Chicago and Jacksonville, Fla., was wrecked on the trestle over the Alapaha river near here at 7:30 o'clock this morning. The first and second class coaches and the first Pullman sleeper went into the river, carrying away about 40 feet of the trestle.

According to the reports of some of the passengers who came to Ocilla the wreck happened without any warning and was caused by the breaking of an axle on the engine when midway of the long trestle. The coaches in the river are about ten feet under water and it is said the list of dead may be increased when the debris is cleared. Seven bodies had been recovered by noon and the injured were brought here and will be sent to the Atlantic Coast Line hospital at Waycross, Ga.

First reports on the wreck were to the effect that the entire train went into the river and that forty were killed outright while many were injured. The scene of the wreck is in a remote section of the state and it was several hours before accurate information was obtainable.

Relief trains were sent to the scene from Waycross, Tifton and Willacooche and it was stated that it will be 36 hours before the tracks are cleared.

Savannah, Ga., March 25.—The Atlantic Coast Line general superintendent's office gives out the following account of the wreck of the Dixie flyer:

"Train No. 95, known as the Dixie flyer, running from Chicago to Jacksonville, Fla., was wrecked on the Alapaha trestle three miles south of Alapaha station on the Brunswick and Western division of the Atlantic Coast Line Railway at 7:20 o'clock this morning. The train carried down with it 400 feet of the trestle. The baggage car was telescoped and the first and second class coaches and the first Pullman sleeping car fell through the trestle."

Amateur Baseball.

Yesterday morning West Lee defeated Pleasant Garden by the score of 16 to 8. Batteries: West Lee, Paschal and Sheperd; Pleasant Garden, Fletcher and Smith.

EVERYTHING READY FOR INDOOR FAJR OF GREENSBORO ELKS

Solid Week of Festivities Arranged for Pleasure of Greensboro People—Club Rooms Attractively Decorated for the Occasion—Some of the Attractions for week.

Everything is in readiness for the big indoor fair to be held at the Elks club this week, beginning at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening and continuing until midnight Saturday night, April 1. The affair will be distinctly unique, and promises to be both enjoyable and entertaining. The Elks and the "sister Elks" have spared neither pains nor expense in providing amusement for the public, and a casual glance through the handsome quarters of the Elks club will convince any one that the management has planned and executed well.

The expert decorators will finish their work tomorrow, and when the opening hour arrives the myriads of electric lights employed for the occasion will show that their work has been well done. The colors of the Elks will adorn the front of the building, and on the interior attractive booths in charge of pretty women will attract the eye and admiration of the visitor.

It is to be a fair in every sense of the word—so far as an indoor fair goes. In place of the midway attractions to be found at the usual fair, there will be numerous booths presided over by many of Greensboro's fairest women, who will offer for sale refreshments and many dainty articles. Everything that one might desire to purchase will be available except a railroad ticket and a life insurance policy.

Notable among the attractions will be Madam Clarica, the world famous fortune teller and renowned clairvoyant, the wonderful woman who had all Paris agog a year ago. Madam Clarica spent the winter season at Palm Beach, Fla., and by a stroke of good fortune the Greensboro Elks, with the assistance of outside influence, were able to induce her to stop off in this city for a week before taking up her engagements for the coming season. Madam Clarica will occupy an Oriental booth in the rear of the main entrance hall, where she will be glad to foretell the future of all who call upon her. In addition to possessing unusual powers in her line of work, Madam Clarica is said to be one of the most beautiful women in the world.

For the entertainment of the children, the Elks will have the smallest baby elephant in captivity. Through the intervention of the grand exalted ruler and other strong influences, the Elks secured the loan of this elephant from Ringlings' circus, which is now in winter quarters. This attraction will be a great drawing card for the little folks, and perhaps for some of the grown-ups. The baby elephant is scheduled to arrive in Greensboro by express tomorrow morning, in charge of a special keeper, and owing to his diminutive size, the Elks will be able to provide him quarters in the basement of the building, where he can eat hay to his heart's content, except when on exhibition, and then he can eat peanuts from the hands of the children of Greensboro.

Perhaps one of the most enjoyable events of the fair will be the suffragette convention to be held in the lodge room tomorrow night. Learning that an Elks fair was on, the officials of the National Suffragette Association wrote the officers of Greensboro Lodge No. 602, B. P. O. E., and asked if they could have a hearing. As the Elks never turn down a woman, the Greensboro lodge voted unanimously to invite the national association to hold a meeting in Greensboro during the fair. This invitation has been accepted, and the convention tomorrow night is expected to be a live affair. Unless detained by accident or illness, Dr. Mary Walker, the original advocate of the harem skirt and chief suffragette militant, will be present and deliver an address on "The Rights and Perquisites of Woman." Every woman and man in Greensboro will want to attend this meeting and hear Dr. Walker.

On the social side, the Elks have provided a dance for every night, ranging from the old-fashioned Virginia reel and square dance to the modern german.

The dining room will be in chage of the household economics department of the Greensboro Woman's club, and

Things are coming to the front which show that the honorable citizens of the Flowery Kingdom may have been entertaining designs on this country, or at least upon its island possessions in the Pacific.

Friends of Senator Lorimer in the Illinois Legislature are going to kill the initative and referendum resolution because Senator Owen of Oklahoma, one of Lorimers leading opponents, was brought to Springfield to advocate its adoption. That is exactly on a parity with Lorimer's calibre of statesmanship.

As advertising agent for the South Champ Clark would probably be worth more to this section than he will be as Speaker of the lower house of Congress; and we could afford to pay him as much salary as he gets for serving in Congress. Champ would miss the glare of the spotlight, however, and that counts for a great deal with the average politician.

The overworked newspaper correspondents who are framing up political slates, Senatorial and otherwise, have determined to have E. J. Justice of this city remove to Raleigh and become a candidate for United States Senator. What we want to know is why it should be necessary for Mr. Justice to remove to Raleigh in order to become eligible as a Senatorial candidate. Greensboro is big and important enough to have a Senatorial candidate without even asking Raleigh's permission.

THESE FARMERS SHOULD COME SOUTH.

The farmers who, following the lure of cheap and fertile land, have emigrated to Canada from the Western States are not wholly satisfied with their ventures. The land is all right, but they encounter the same difficulty in Manitoba or Alberta that confronted them in Illinois and Indiana—the lack of labor. The immigrants who are flocking to Canada are in the main either bent upon taking up land for themselves, and thus increasing instead of satisfying the demand for farm labor, or undesirous of outdoor labor. The farmers also have to bid in the labor market against the railroad and mining companies. If it were not for the machines, which of late years have largely taken the place of hand labor on the farms, the scarcity of unskilled labor would be a still more serious problem. —Philadelphia Record.

The farmers of the middle West who are removing to Canada should come South. No doubt they would do this if they had at hand the information about this section which they have in regard to Canada. The advantages of the South compared with Canada, from an agricultural standpoint, make this section show up as a land flowing with milk and honey compared with the desert. The chief reason why the people of the middle West and Northwestern States do not come South is lack of information about this section. They are not aware of its advantages. In fact the majority of the .people of those States have nothing within their reach except misinformation about the South. They think the South is one vast malarial swamp, sweltering in heat equal to that of the Torrid Zone; peopled by half savage negroes and "shiftless" whites. They think the climate of the South is dangerous to health and that the people down here are ignorant and unprogressive. Having no desire, for these reasons, to come South, they are emigrating to Canada; and while it is true that much of the soil of Canida is fertile, it is also true that the climate is extremely severe, the seasons are short, and on the whole the productiveness of the country is far less than that of the South.

Tens of thousands of good citizens from the United States are every year flocking to Canida. They are in search of cheap lands, realizing that it is no longer possible to cultivate profitably lands which have increased in value until they are worth from $100 to $300 per acre. The farm labor question is also a great problem in the middle western and northern States. All the disadvantages which surround the farmers of these States are absent from the South, except, perhaps, the labor problem. There is a scarcity of farm labor in many sections of the South; but the long seasons here obviate this difficulty to a large extent, making it possible for each farm hand to work many more days in the year than is possible in Canada. The lands of the South are low in price and the climate is as fine as can be found in any section of the United States. The cost of living on the farms of the South is less than the cost of living on the farms in the North; and the profits it is possible to realize on investments in land in this section afford five to ten times the interest which investments in lands bring in the North and are much greater than the returns from investments in the cheaper lands of Canada.

All these facts are unknown to the greater number of the people in the sections which are losing population to Canada, and that accounts for the trend of population northward. If the facts about the South were properly placed before the farmers of the middle West and the Northwest many of them would remove to this section. These thoughts impress the need of an adequate campaign for spreading knowledge of the South among the people of those sections which are sending thousands of good people annually to populate the British dominions.

The Canvasback.

Of all the wild fowl family the canvasback duck is easily the king. Its flesh is matchless in sweet flavor, unless it be by that of the red-head, and the extremely high price of it shows how precious and rare it has become. Not many years ago there was little difficulty in procuring a good bag of this peerless bird on the shores of the Chesapeak, where it feeds upon the wild celery that gives distinction to its flesh. Today the canvasback is a rara avis, indeed. It is going the way of all flesh, only faster than most, and its disappearance will be, unlike that of the dodo, a gustatory calamity. Its funeral procession follows close upon the obsequies of the prarie hen and the wild turkey. Voracious man, gun in hand, has been as thoughtless as a gluttonous child, and sought to eat all his cake at a gulp.—Philadelphia Press.

Warning to Railroad Men

Look out for severe and even dangerous kidney and bladder trouble resulting from years of railroading. Geo. E. Bell, 639 Third St., Fort Wayne, Ind., was many years a conductor on the Nickel Plate. He says: "Twenty years of railroading left my kidneys in terrible condition. There was a continual pain across my back and hips and my kidneys gave me much distress, and the action of my bladder was frequent and most painful. I got a supply of Foley Kidney Pills and the first bottle made a wonderful improvement and four bottles cured me completely. Since being cured I have recommended Foley Kidney Pills to many of my railroad friends." Howard Gardner.

Even women who lack the sense of humor want to be jollied all the time.

No, Alonzo, all fetching girls are not waitresses.

Rheumacide
IT CURES

Rheumatism and Blood Diseases

The cause of rheumatism is excess uric acid in the blood. To cure rheumatism this acid must be expelled from the system. Rheumatism is an internal disease and requires an internal remedy. Rubbing with oils and liniments may ease the pain, but they will no more cure rheumatism than paint will change the fiber of rotten wood.

Cures Rheumatism To Stay Cured.

Science has discovered a perfect and complete cure called Rheumacide. Tested in hundreds of cases, it has effected marvelous cures. Rheumacide removes the cause, gets at the joints from the inside, sweeps the poisons out of the system, tones up the stomach, regulates the bowels and kidneys. Sold by druggists at 50c. and $1; in the tablet form at 25c. and 50c., by mail. Booklet free.

Many ills come from impure blood. Can't have pure blood with faulty digestion, lazy liver and sluggish bowels, Burdock Blood Bitters strengthens stomach, bowels and liver, and purifies the blood.

Itching, torturing skin eruptions, disfigure, annoy, drive one wild. Doan's Ointment brings quick relief and lasting cures. Fifty cents at any drug store.

After a heavy meal, take a couple of Doan's Regulets, and give your stomach, liver and bowels the help they will need. Regulets bring easy, regular passages of the bowels.

Everybody's friend—Dr. Thomas' Eclectic Oil. Cures toothache, earache, sore throat. Heals cuts, bruises, scalds. Stops any pain.

NOTRE DAME LADY'S APPEAL.

To all knowing sufferers or rheumatism, whether muscular or of the joints, sciataca, lumbagos, backache, pains in the kidneys or neuralgia pains, to write to her for a home treatment which has repeatedly cured all of these tortures. She feels it her duty to send it to all sufferers FREE. You cure yourself at home as thousands will testify—no change of climate being necessary. This simple discovery banishes uric acid from the blood, loosens the stiffened joints, purifies the blood, and brightens the eyes, giving elasticity and tone to the whole system. If the above interests you, for proof address Mrs. M. Summers, Box R., Notre Dame, Ind.

THE POPULAR TURBAN.

All the Girls Are Wearing This Natty Little Headgear.

The popular little worsted turbans girls are wearing for outing nowadays are made in the following way:

Materials—Three skeins eight fold Germantown, amber crochet hook No. 6.

Ch. means chain, tr. c. means treble crochet.

Ch. 3, join to a ring.

First row—Ch. 3, make 15 tr. c. in ring, join into 3rd ch.

Second row—Ch. 2, insert hook into 1st ch. draw up a loop, insert hook into first tr. c., using both loops at top of stitch, draw up a loop, yarn over hook draw through all stitches on hook, ch. 1. (This ch. 1 forms an eye). Now, X insert hook in the eye, draw up a loop, insert hook in back loop of stitch, draw up a loop, insert hook in next tr. c., draw up a loop, yarn over hook, draw through all stitches on hook, ch. 1. Repeat from X all around.

Third row—Insert hook into last eye, insert hook into back loop of stitch, insert hook into 2nd ch. at beginning of previous row, insert hook into top loop of first stitch of previous row (5 loops on hook), yarn over hook draw through all loops on hook, ch. 1, then make a star stitch by inserting hook into eye of stitch, insert hook into back of stitch, insert hook into back loop of next stitch, insert hook into eye of next stitch, yarn over hook, draw through all stitches on hook, ch. 1. Make another star stitch, then widen.

To widen, insert hook in eye of stitch, insert into back loop, insert into the same eye where last stitch was made (4 loops on hook), yarn over hook and draw through all loops on hook, ch. 1.

Continue this way, making 2 star stitches, and one widening, all around this row.

Fourth row—Make 3 stars and widen all around row.

Fifth row—Make 4 stars and widen all around row. Now work round and round, making 6 rows without any widening.

Then make two rows of single crochet, using the same color as the border.

Now, to make the border, turn the work, and, working on the wrong side, make 6 rows of star stitches. This throws the border on the right side, when it is turned up.

Finish with one row of single crochet.

To make the button for top of cap, ch. 3 join, make 8 single crochets in ring.

Now make 2 single crochets in each of the 8 just made.

In the next row make X 2 s. c. in first stitch, 1 s. c. in next. Repeat from X around row.

Now make 2 rows of s. c. without any widening.

Then make 1 s. c. in every other stitch until there are no stitches left.

Of No Use to Him.

Two old settlers sat smoking in a cabin far away in the backwoods. No woman's hand had ever desecrated that sanctum, and grime reigned supreme and triumphant. The conversation veered round from state politics to cooking.

"Yaas," said the elder of the two, with a drawl, "I did get one o' them there cookbooks wunst, but I could never do nothing with it."

"How was that?" inquired the other. "What was the hitch?"

"Waal," was the answer, "every one o' them receits begun in the same way with the same words. Every one o' 'em started off with 'take a clean dish'—and I never got no further."

And he slowly replaced his old black clay pipe in his mouth and fell to ruminating sadly on the narrow outlook on the world of human beings as displayed by authors of cookery books.—Dundee Advertiser.

A Clever Stunt.

It is not generally known that a slice of lemon put into the copper when boiling clothes will make them beautifully white and take all the stains out of pocket handkerchiefs and children's dresses. Cut the lemon with the rind into slices and let it remain in the boiler till the clothes are ready to come out.

Asbestos Iron Holder.

Iron holders made from a piece of asbestos the desired size and covered with drilling or heavy unbleached muslin are light and keep out heat. There should be a ring or loop sewed to one corner to hang the holder.

"GRAND OPENING!"

COMMENCING

MONDAY, MARCH 27TH.

The Myer's spring opening comes late this year, in keeping with Easter and the desire to present Dame Fashions's final verdict. The feature of this occasion will be the exposition of every detail of the spring costume in artistic harmony. The gown and hat, the veil and parsol, the bag and belt, the gloves and hose, the neckpiece and jewelry, all are here to create an artistic ensemble.

Beauty and charm in style-ideas, magnificence in material, newness and delight in the most bewitching of daintyfabrics and all accessories, have been drawn from every source, and now results are splendidly exemplified in the scores and scores of beautiful goods here. The very choicest of the world's mercantile products, displayed on all sides in a manner to prove, to a superb degree, the store's ability to get in close and effective touch with just the haunts of fashion that contribute greatest interest and importance to its clientele.

There is glow and fascination about this display which makes it one of more than ordinary interest, and more than a mere merchandising event—for the pleasing exhibits are full of interesting Spring style-ideas. At every stopping point new and wonderous beauties are revealed, which will be of delight and profit.

The character and thoroughness of each display will impress you—as it presents rare opportunities for complete inspection of styles that are really foremost in the world of fashion.

The occasion celebrates the highest degree of development here, showing in surprising variety the very newest and most direct expressions of approval and distinction in all matters of dress.

Women's apparel—Costumes, Suits, Dresses, Coats, Waists and Shirts—diversified and beautiful.

Such varieties of truly exquisite garments, representing to pleasing advantage the range of fashion. Such vast numbers of fine and distinguished creations displayed, and again remarkable because of moderation of price.

The assemblage is magnificant, for Women, for Misses, and Children—every thing is ready, and especially inviting.

It Sometimes Happens.

"Do you remember that little, watery eyed, lazy chap we had here three or four years ago?" asked the head of the firm. "Binks, I think his name was. I discharged him for incompetency."

"Binks?" the assistant manager replied. "Oh, yes, I remember him well."

"He came in to see me today."

"Did he? He went from here to New York, didn't he? I suppose he was wearing a silk hat and an overcoat with a fur collar."

"That's the funny thing about his case. I can't understand it. He was all run down at the heels and wanted to know if I would give him 50 cents."—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Stickler For Principle.

"Will you be my ownest own for ever and ever, darling?" pleaded the lover.

"Do be reasonable, Percy," softly remonstrated the lady Socialist. "You know I don't approve of granting special privileges or encouraging monopolies, so please put your question in another form."—Illustrated Sunday Magazine.

Napoleon's Loss.

"Shall you return to power, sire?" asked Napoleon's secretary as they departed together from the field of Waterloo.

"I fear me not," said the emperor sadly. "That hook nosed warrior the Duke of Wellington appears to have captured my return ticket."—Harper's Weekly.

TO TEACH HEALTH IN THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Representatives of the County Commissioners and the County Board of Education conferred together in the office of Superintendent Foust yesterday regarding the securing of a superintendent of health to devote his time to the teaching of health in the public schools of the county. State Secretary of Health Rankin and Secretary Ferrell, of the Hookworm Commission, were present and discussed the matter. The County Commissioners will be asked to adopt such a course, the superintendent to conduct a campaign of health education throughout the county, both in the schools and in giving public lectures on health and sanitation.

Gems In Verse

TODAY IS OURS.

EVERY day is a fresh beginning,
Listen, my soul, to the glad refrain
And, spite of old sorrow and older sinning
And puzzles forecasted and possible pain,
Take heart with the day and begin again.

BABIES.

BABIES short
And babies tall,
Don't you somehow
Love them all?
Babies fat
And babies thin,
Babies with
A toothless grin,
Babies with
Wee teeth and white,
Babies dark
And babies light,
Babies with
Glad glinting eyes,
Babies sad
And full of sighs,
Babies with dark
Or yellow hair,
Babies with their
Wee polls all bare,
Babies that all
Beribboned go,
Babies garbed
In calico,
Babies strong
And babies weak,
Babies bold
And babies meek,
Babies well
And babies ill,
Babies loud
And babies still,
Babies with
Straight limbs and strong,
Babies with limbs
Somehow gone wrong—
Crippled babies—
Bless your soul,
I have fallen
In a hole!
Nothing hurts
One's heart so much
As a baby
With a crutch!
Anyhow,
Short babies or tall,
Well or ill,
I love them all!
—J. M. Lewis in Houston Post.

OFFICIALLY FAMOUS.

One Edgar Allan Poe—
You may have heard the name—
Is now allowed to go
Into the Hall of Fame.

For years ignored was he,
But lifted is the ban,
And he officially
Is now a famous man.

So bear in mind the same.
The news is strictly so.
No doubt about the fame
Of Edgar Allan Poe.
—Louisville Courier-Journal.

BE FAIR.

MAKE this your motto for the year:
Be fair.
No matter what reports you hear,
Be fair.
It doesn't help you up the hill
To make some other's pathway hard.
You can't expect by speaking ill
Of men to win the world's regard.
Be fair.

YOU have a chance to help along.
Be fair.
No man is absolutely wrong.
Be fair.
You don't increase your merit when
You cast slurs on another's worth.
Why turn against your fellow men
Or place one sorrow more on earth?
Be fair.
—Chicago Record-Herald.

LOVE A TERRIBLE THING.

I WENT out to the farthest meadow,
I lay down in the deepest shadow,

And I said unto the earth, "Hold me,"
And unto the night, "Oh, infold me!"

And I begged the little leaves to lean
Low and together for a safe screen.

Then to the stars I told my tale—
"That is my home light there in the vale.

"And, oh, I know that I shall return!
But let me lie first mid the unfeeling fern.

"For there is a flame that has blown too near,
And there is a name that has grown too dear,
And there is a fear."

And to the still hills and cool earth and far sky I made moan:
"The heart in my bosom is not my own!
Oh, would I were free as the wind on the wing!
Love is a terrible thing!"
—Century Magazine.

OPPORTUNITY.

I KNOW not what the future holds,
But this I know:
Youth is a guest, who on his way
Too soon will go.

ONCE gone we call to deafened ears,
All prayers are vain.
For tears of blood he will not come
Back once again.

THEN spread the board of life, with wine
And roses drest.
Drink deep and long, greet Joy and Love
While Youth is guest.
—Arthur Ketchum.

AN IRISH TUNE.

WILL you listen to the laugh of it
Gushing from the fiddle?
More's the fun in half of it
That e'en an Irish riddle.
Sure it's not a fiddler's bow
That's making sport so merry.
It's just the fairies laughing so.
I heard them oft in Kerry.

WILL you listen to the step of it?
Faith, that tune's a daisy.
Just the very leap of it
Would make the feet unaisy.
Hold your tongues, ye noisy rogues,
And stop your giddy prancing!
It's me can hear the weeshee brogues
Of Irish fairies dancing.

WILL you listen to the tune of it,
Sweeter than the honey?
I'd rather hear the croon of it
Than get a miser's money.
Sure, my son, it makes me cry,
But don't play any other.
May God be with the days gone by
I danced it with your mother!
—Hugh F. Blunt.

FOUR THINGS.

Four things a man must learn to do
If he would make his record true—
To think without confusion clearly,
To love his fellow men sincerely,
To act from honest motives purely,
To trust in God and heaven securely.
—Henry van Dyke.

Everything Ready for Indoor Fair of Greensboro Elks

meals will be served, every day during the fair.

The Elks planned this great fair on a very elaborate scale and the preparations include every fraternal order of the city in the way of entertainment. The members of all the fraternal organizations of Greensboro and surrounding points will receive a cordial welcome and several of the orders have already asked for special nights.

The committee has decided on Tuesday night as Masonic night; Wednesday night as Odd Fellows night; Thursday night as Pythian night; Friday night as Junior Order and Red Men night and Saturday night as T. P. A. and U. C. T. night. This arrangement, however, will not affect the attendance of the general public, but will merely serve to make "the more the merrier."

The Elks state that they do not want to overlook anyone in this community and the public is reminded that the admission to the fair is only ten cents, or fifty cents for a season ticket; that their plans for this big event were mapped out on such a broad plane that no citizen need feel slighted, but everyone is invited to attend. Ladies will be admitted free. The entertainment features will interest all, for their will be something doin' all the time.

EASTERN CAROLINA LEAGUE PROSPECTS LOOK RATHER GLOOMY.

Yesterday's Raleigh Times sport writer had the following regarding the Eastern Carolina League:

With the coming of spring weather, baseball looms up like a vision. The various leagues are preparing to play, the teams are gathering for the practice season preparatory to the gruelling schedule ahead.

The Eastern Carolina League seems to be on the standstill at present, but indications are that when the gong sounds this league will again be in the race. At a meeting of the stockholders held sometime ago at Goldsboro it was decided to cut the salary limit down to $1100 and reduce the schedule from 90 to 72 games. This was done from the simple fact that last season every single club lost heavily, and the loss seemed to have been during the closing weeks of the season. Without any apologies to offer, it is a fact that the towns that compose the Eastern Carolina League cannot and will not stand for a long schedule, therefore the wisdom of a short one. Several ironclad rules were adopted regarding the salary limit that will mean a great deal, not only financially but morally, to the league.

Since that meeting the situation has been on a standstill for various reasons. Rocky Mount, Goldsboro and Raleigh are anxious for baseball. Wilmington, Wilson and Fayetteville seem dead for some reason. No interest can be gotten up in those three towns, it appears. Should any one club drop out, Durham stands ready to take up the franchise, we have every reason to believe.

The time for "hot-air" is over and for practical business has arrived. A meeting of the directors will probably be held within the next few days and it will then be known definitely whether there will be an Eastern Carolina League or not.

But men are you to sit still and wait for the directors' meeting? Get busy today. The fans are anxious for baseball, they want it and will support it. It is up to you to give it to them. Letters are being sent out to the six towns that composed the league last year trying to arouse the enthusiasm. Action should be taken at once, and if possible line up for baseball. If you cannot get together, the league should not be throttled by your actions. Let some live town have your franchise and don't kill the business because you happened to lose last year. All together, in one effort, and the Eastern Carolina League will again be seen in the baseball world.

Much Interest is Taken in Y. M. C. A. Swimming Pool

Judging from the number of people who are manifesting a keen interest in the location of the swimming pool in the new Y. M. C. A., the charms of the "Old Swimming Hole" are still a factor in the average boy's life.

Workmen on the above building say every visitor inquires for the location of the pool. The little booklet being issued by the association places considerable stress upon the plans and equipment for this feature of its work, so evidently they did not miss it when they made the swimming pool as attractive as tile and marble could make it.

Saturday the men were settlng the large blocks of granite known as the belt course or water table. Monday they expect to set the main entrance stone. One of these pieces already on the ground will weigh close to 6000 pounds. When erected it will present a magnificent appearance.

The floor of the gymnasium is to be supported on wooden girders 16x18 inches and about 24 feet long. These girders rest on the side walls and are supported under the center by large iron columns. It was interesting yesterday to watch the men placing these timbers. From 10 to 12 men were required to set one in place.

At the rate of progress being made by the contractor there is small chance of his being called upon to pay the forfeit of $25 per day if the work is not completed by August 1, and the young men and boys who are eagerly waiting for the building to be opened, are about as anxious for pleasant weather as is the contractor.

SPIRITS REACH HIGH WATER MARK OF SEASON.

Savannah, Ga., March 25.—The naval stores situation at the opening of the market in Savannah today presents many spectacular features. The spirits market of course is the one to attract the greatest attention. Spirits are quoted at $1.06 1-2 a gallon today and that the highest price of the season has not been reached is conceded by all who have anything to do with the market. The naval stores year ends on March 31st but it is freely predicted before the date arrives spirits will be selling at $1.10 a gallon.

Futures for May, August delivery have been sold at 82 cents and the demand at this price has not been met. The rosin market is equally spectacular. Today's rosins opened with but 45 cents difference per barrel in the highest grade and the lowest. The lowest grade of rosin—the once despised B—is selling now at $8 a barrel while W W, the most elite of the rosins grades is bringing but $8.45. The reason is the rapid decrease in the production of the B or dark rosins under gathering methods.

Music Recital Tomorrow Night.

The pupils of the department of music of the Greensboro Female College will give a recital at 8:30 Monday evening in the college auditorium. The public is cordially invited.

Pupils' Recital.

The music pupils of Miss Florence Hunt gave a recital yesterday afternoon in Miss Hunt's studio in the Southern Life & Trust building, the patrons and friends of Miss Hunt being present to enjoy the program.

Birthday Party.

Miss Cladie Pike entertained a number of her friends last evening at her home on Gregory street, the occasion being in celebration of her seventeenth birthday. About thirty young people called with tokens of remembrance for Miss Pike and the evening was spent in a most enjoyable manner.

Former Greensboro Man To Wed.

The friends of W. H. Turner, Jr., a former resident of Greensboro, will read with interest the following announcement:

"Mrs. Lily Sterling Johnson announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Hazel Net-Elle Vorus, to Mr. William H. Turner, Jr., of Hogansville, Ga., formerly of Greensboro, N. C., the wedding to take place at the Inman Park Presbyterian church, April 25th."

Y. W. C. A. Notes.

The association will conduct a meeting for young women Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Reformed church. This is the third of the series of women's meetings which are being held in the city churches under direction of the Y. W. C. A. There will be an address by the general secretary, Miss Cain. All the young women of South Greensboro are especially invited.

A story hour will be conducted at the Y. W. C. A. rooms Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The hour will be in charge of Miss Emma Renn and all girls under sixteen are invited.

G. F. C. Alumnae Meeting.

On Thursday afternoon at the library was held a meeting of the local G. F. C. Alumnae, Mrs. C. H. Ireland presiding. After an appropriate talk Mrs. Ireland offered prayer for the family of Mrs. Edmund Harrison, deceased. Mrs. Harrison was a member of the association and a committee was appointed to draft suitable resolutions of sympathy.

Reports were received from the different committees, these reports being of a most encouraging nature. Especially encouraging was the report of Mrs. Cunningham, who is chairman of the Shipp Memorial fund. She reported that the prospects for securing the remainder of the necessary funds for this memorial column and oil painting were bright. It is hoped that the committee will have a large amount of this money paid in by the May commencement. The next meeting of the association will be held the latter part of April.

Euterpe Club.

Miss Phyllis Woodall entertained the Euterpe club in her studio yesterday afternoon from 5 to 6:30 o'clock in honor of her mother, who had just arrived from Wilmington.

The studio was beautifully springlike with its abundance of flowers and shaded lights, while the musical program was most artistically arranged and performed. The first number was a vocal solo by Mrs. Foushee, "Come, Sweet Morning"; next a piano solo by Miss Maie Dorsett, Nocturne in D flat, by Karganoff; Carmina, by Wilson, sung by Mrs. Banner; violin and piano duett, by Miss Woodall and Mrs. Albright—Spring song, by Mendelssohn, Humoresque, by Mozart.

The guests enjoyed a most informal social hour with Mrs. Woodall, much merriment being caused by a list of musical conundrums to be answered in musical terms. After testing and tasting Miss Woodall's delightful hospitality Mrs. Foushee, Mrs. Albright, Mrs. Stone and Miss Nan Woods beautifully sang two selections from Paul Ambrose.

Miss Mollie K. Fetzer is spending a few days with Mrs. H. M. Blair on Percy street.

Mrs. O. V. Woosley remains quite ill at the home of her sister, Mrs. E. R. Michaux, North Elm street.

Mrs. Mary Bradford, of Passaic, N. J., is the guest of Mrs. Elmore, 412 North Elm street.

Mrs. W. L. Grissom and daughter, Miss Bessie, have returned from a visit to Richmond.

Miss Kate Vance Tate has returned from Spartanburg, S. C., where she has been teaching music.

Mrs. J. H. Joyner, of Whitsett, spent yesterday in the city shopping.

Miss Elsie Hinkle, who underwent an operation for appendicitis at St. Leo's two weeks ago, was able to be removed to her home on Julian street Friday.

Miss Bessie Williams, who was operated on at St. Leo's hospital several days ago, is recovering nicely.

Mrs. A. A. Crutchfield has gone to Guilford College to visit her brother, Henry Crutchfield.

Indians Claim 36,000 Acres of Bertie Land

lands at the expiration of the hundred year lease. However, an unfortunate feature of this is that there can be found as yet no record of it having been properly registered so as to assure its validity.

It seems to be the merest accident that the Indian papers that are to prove so valuable in adjustment of this land controversy are in existence at all, for the reason that soon after Col. Grimes came into the office of secretary of state these and very many more old state documents were in a heap of trash in one of the old closets in the attic of the capitol building liable at any time to be shoveled out and burned at any proper and much needed house cleaning.

Chief Mount Pleasant says that he has spent some time already in Bertie county conferring with the present holders of the Tuscarora lands as to possible adjustment of the claims of his people.

$25,000 For Y. M. C. A.

The first day of the great whirlwind campaign for the $65,000 fund for a Y. M. C. A. building for Raleigh, resulted in a total of $25,000 subscriptions secured, this including the $5,000 subscriptions that were announced at the dinner conference This record is considered especially good in view of a number of recognized handicaps under which the solicitors are working, especially notable being the fact that a number of the largest and strongest congregations in the city are burdened with heavy building undertakings. The Edenton Street Methodist congregation has just gotten up the walls and roof of a $25,000 Sunday school building and are hesitating as to whether work shall be suspended for a period of rest before the final strain of raising the $12,000 necessary for completion is undertaken. The Church of the Good Shepherd has a $30,000 granite church under way for the past fifteen years and is just now straining every resource and issuing bonds whenever possible for enough money to complete the walls and get on the roof and possibl yto get the building in such condition that it may be used for auditorium purposes sometime within the next year. Even then they will be thousands of dollars away from having what will be required to finish this splendid church.

Then the congregation of Tabernacle Baptist church has just finished an expenditure of $30,000 on remodeling and enlarging their church making it probably the most modern and spacious in this section of country.

Registration Books Will Open Monday

Yesterday official notice was served on Registrars J. H. Rankin and J. W. McNairy and the registration books delivered to them. The books will be opened tomorrow morning and remain open until April 22. The registrars are required to be at the polling places on each Saturday but on other days they can be found at their places of business. Mr. Rankin is registrar for Morehead precinct and the polling place is the city hall. Mr. McNairy is registrar for Gilmer precinct and the polling place is at the Eagle Hose Company's hall. The registration is a new one because of the fact that the city was divided into two precincts.

APPRECIATION SHOWN FIREMEN.

The owners of the building on West Market street, which was damaged by fire Friday, yesterday sent to Chief Taylor a check for $25 as an appreciation of the services of the firemen in preventing the destruction of the entire building.

End of Present Government Near Say Insurrectos

El Paso, Texas, March 25.—"We will not lay down our arms until Diaz is out." This was the declaration made today by Senor Gonzales Garza, insurrecto secretary of state.

In spite of the resignation of the Mexican cabinet the revolutionists junta here declared today that there would be no cessation of hostilities in the war zone. It is declared Madero will continue to prevent railroad and telegraphic communication throughout north Mexico and will endeavor to capture more towns as basis of supplies.

The demand that Diaz declare null his last election and agree to a new election for president will not be relinquished and popular balloting for governors of states and jefes poltico will be insisted upon.

The junta is confident that the resignation of the cabinet means the end of the present political regime of Mexico and the institution of great reforms, but insurrecto chiefs are still uncertain as to the immediate results which may follow the naming of a new cabinet.

The selections made by President Diaz for new advisors, it is thought, will have an important bearing on the insurrection.

Washington, D. C., March 25.—Official announcement of the resignation of the Diaz cabinet in Mexico reached Washington today in the form of a dispatch from Enrique Creel, minister of foreign affairs, to Senor de La Barra, Mexican ambassador to the United States.

The dispatch announced that yesterday the entire cabinet had presented their resignations to President Diaz, who had received them with the declaration that he reserved the right to accept them or reject them, according to his convenience.

Senor Creel added that this action of the cabinet had been well received by the public, as contributing to definite reforms and a lasting peace.

Y. W. C. A. Movement Spreading in South

The Young Women's Christian Association movement is spreading rapidly in the South. An association was recently organized in Jacksonville, Fla., with a membership of over 900. The following is taken from an editorial in the Jacksonville Metropolis:

"It is not necessary to state that this movement deserves the the heartiest support of the people of Jacksonville, rich and poor alike. Every young woman in the city should be a member and every father, husband and brother should feel it his duty to go down deep into his pocket and help put the association on its feet."

In New Orleans, La., a Y. W. C. A. has been organized with a membership of 1000. A lunch room will at once be a feature of this new association. Also there will be a rest room, a reading room, a library and club rooms, a gymnasium and baths, an employment bureau and a boarding house directory.

THE HISTORY OF THE CONFEDERATE FLAG, AS GIVEN BY GEN. W. T. CABELL

The recent death of Gen. W. T. Cabell, "Old Tige," former commander of the Trans-Mississippi Department of Confederate Veterans, recalls the fact that he had supervision of the making of the first Confederate flag. His interview, given several years ago, made public for the first time the true history of the Stars and Bars, contributing one of the most interesting chapters to Confederate history. He was one of the first United States Army officers to send in their resignations when the Civil War began, and he left the service under flattering prospect for promotion. He quit the position of chief quartermaster, Army of North Viriginia, to engage in field service for the Confederacy. He died recently at his home in Dallas at the age of 80.

"When the Confederate Army, commanded by General Beauregard, and the Federal Army confronted each other at Manassas," said General Cabell in regard to the adoption of a Confederate flag, "it was seen that the flag being used by the Confederates and the Stars and Stripes looked at a dinstance so much alike that it was hard to distinguish one from the other. General Beauregard, thinking that serious mistakes might be made in recognizing our troops, after the battle of July 18, at Blackburn Ford, ordered that a small red badge should be worn on the left shoulder by our troops; and as I was chief quartermaster, ordered me to purchase a large quantity of red flannel and to distribute it to each regiment. I distributed the red flannel to a number of regiments, the men placing red badges on their left shoulders.

"During the battle of Bull Run it was plain to be seen that a large number of Federal soldiers wore similar badges. I saw these badges on a number of prisoners we captured that day. Generals Johnston and Beauregard met at Fairfax Courthouse, in the latter part of August or early in September, and determined to have a battle flag for every regiment or detached command, that could be easily recognized and easily carried. I was telegraphed to come at once to Fairfax Courthouse. I found Generals Johnston and Beauregard in the latter's office discussing the kind of flag that should be adopted.

"General Johnston's flag was in the shape of an elipse—a red flag with blue St. Andrew's cross and stars on the cross (white) to represent the different Southern States. (No border of any kind was attached to this cross.) General Beauregard's was a rectangle—red and blue St. Andrew's cross and white stars similar to General Johnston's. Both were discussed and thoroughly examined by all.

"After we had fully discussed the two styles, taking into consideration the cost of the material and of making the flags, it was decided the elipitical flag would be the harder to make; that it would take more cloth and that it could not be seen so plainly at a distance; that the rectangular flag, drawn by and suggested by General Beauregard should be adopted; General Johnston yielded and at once, when the reason given by General Beauregard and myself was so good and substantial.

"No one else was present but we three. No one knew about this flag, but we three until an order was issued adopting the Beauregard flag, as it was called and directing me as chief quartermaster to have the flag made as soon as it could be done. I immediately issued an address to the good ladies of the South to give me their red and blue silk dresses and to send them to Captain Collin McRae Selph, quartermaster, at Richmond, Va., where he was assisted by two young ladies, the Misses Carey, of Baltimore, and two married ladies, Mrs. Henningsen, of Savannah, and Mrs. Hopkins, of Alabama. The Misses Carey made flags for General Beauregard and General Van Dorn, and, I think, for General J. E. Johnston. They made General Beauregard's flag out of their own silk dresses. The flag is now in Memorial Hall, New Orleans, with a statement of that fact from General Beauregard. General Van Dorn's flag was made of a heavier material, but very pretty.

"Captain Selph, who afterward lived at New Orleans for many years, had a number of the flags made and sent to me at Manassas, and they were distributed by order of General Beauregard. My wife, who was in Richmond, made a beautiful flag out of her own dresses (silk) and sent it to a cousin of hers who commanded an Arkansas regiment. This flag was lost at Elk Horn, but was later recaptured by a Missouri division under General Henry Little.

"It being impossible to get silk enough to make the large number of flags needed, I had a number made out of blue and red cotton cloth. I then issued a circular letter to the quartermasters of all regiments and brigades in the army to make flags and to use any red and blue cloth suitable that they could get. General Beauregard and General Johnston, being good draftsmen, drew their designs.

"The statement formerly made that the Confederate flag was first made by a Federal prisoner is false; not one word of truth in it. No living soul excepting General Beauregard, General Johnston and myself knew anything about this flag until the order was given directing me to have them made as soon as it could be done.

"General Beauregard's battle flag is in Memorial Hall, New Orleans, where the superintendent in charge takes delight in showing it to visitors. The Washington Artillery flag, which I presented to that regiment because of my admiration of its gallantry, bravery and patriotism, can be seen at any time at the Washington Artillery Hall."

General Cabell, in his statement, did not attach much importance to the additions to the flag made by the Confederate Congress—first the white extension and then the added strip of red across the end.—Baltimore Sun.

Cooked Salad Dressing.

Allow to three fresh eggs three tablespoonfuls good olive oil, three tablespoonfuls vinegar, three tablespoonfuls thin bouillon or water and salt and paprika to season. Beat all the ingredients together with an egg beater, then put into a double boiler, having boiling water in the outer vessel. Cook, beating with the egg beater, until thickened. Remove the inner pot from the outer hot bath and beat a little longer until partially cooled. Finish the cooling process and it is ready for serving.

Feather Biscuit.

Into a quart of flour put two level teaspoonfuls of baking power and sift all together three times. Chop into the flour a great spoonful of lard or other shortening and chop to a coarse powder. Add a little salt. Stir all together, handling as much as necessary with a wooden spoon and putting the hands into the dough as little as practicable. Lift out upon a floured board, roll quickly and lightly into a sheet, cut into rounds and bake immediately. Serve as soon as baked.

Lamb Kidneys With Bacon.

Split six kidneys in halves and remove the thin outer skin. Fry six slices of bacon until crisp. Remove them from the fat and keep hot. Dip the kidneys in flour and brown quickly on both sides in the bacon fat. When brown add hot water to nearly cover, a tablespoonful of tomato catchup and a tablespoonful of table sauce and cook for five minutes, keeping them just below the boiling point. Serve on a hot platter with the bacon as a garnish.

MAKING OF YOKES.

This Troublesome Accessory Adjusted In This Way.

The making of yokes is not an insignificant matter. It is often a puzzle even in the sewing room. Theoretically yokes are nothing but a small piece of thin material cut into a straight collar and a peplum to cover up the bare space of the neck; practically they are a nuisance, breaking up all theories, going against all rules and generally harassing those who make and those who wear them.

A good, sizable, old fashioned yoke that was cut by a waist pattern and was sewed in the blouse was not one-quarter the trouble that these tiny modern things are. They came through the universal wearing of partly low blouses, a fashion which is so insistent that women follow it in the making of their waists, then prepare a small yoke to put in when the waist is worn in the street on cold days or at any time when a low blouse is not appropriate.

Young girls who have the quality of youth in their necks can wear the collarless waist at all hours, but this freedom does not sit well on every woman. Age carries a certain degree of dignity, and the blouse with the low neck does not look quite well on women who have arrived at that time of dignity.

It is in deference to this taste that the majority of women who have good necks finish the blouse off with a V in front and a sailor collar of white or colored chiffon cloth or a round neck without a collar and then provide themselves with at least two yokes to wear when occasion demands.

It is these yokes that have caused all the trouble. How to keep them down, how to make them smooth, how to have them cleaned, are a triology of questions that women ask each other whenever they foregather.

Even when an inch or two of this yoke shows above the neck of the blouse it requires as much harness to keep it down as to keep a horse in the shafts. This harness method is as follows: The yoke is cut to the proper depth with the collar attached. One tape is run from the middle of the front to the waist line and one from the middle of each armhole, front, to the waist, then two down the back, one on each side of the middle, and all securely sewed to a tight belt made of broad tape which hooks at the back.

Has Millions of Friends.

How would you like to number your friends by millions as Bucklen's Arnica Salve does? Its astounding cures in the past forty years made them. It's the best Salve in the world for sores, ulcers, eczema, burns, boils, scalds, cuts, corns, sore eyes, sprains, swellings, bruises, cold sores. Has no equal for piles. 25c. at Fariss-Klutz Drug Co.

Dutch Apple Cake.

Two cupfuls flour, two teaspoonfuls baking powder, one-half teaspoonful salt, one-quarter cupful sugar, one egg, one cupful milk, one-quarter cupful butter melted. Mix in the order given and spread evenly in a buttered pan. Pare, core and cut into eighths two apples. Place in parallel rows in the dough and sprinkle three tablespoonfuls of sugar over the top. Bake thirty minutes and serve hot with lemon sauce.

Cheese Straws.

Make a good puff paste and roll it into a thin sheet. Strew it thickly with Parmesan or other dry cheese, grated and mixed with a dash of cayenne. Fold over upon itself and roll out once. Cut into long, slender strips and bake to a golden brown. Keep in a dry place so that the pastry will not get soft.

Boiled Cider Cookies.

One cup of lard, a cup of sugar (creamed) and a cup of boiled cider, to which add a teaspoonful of soda. Add to sugar and lard flour enough to roll not too stiff and add a little salt. These are better with one egg and half butter for shortening.

SCIENCE PREVENTS BALDNESS.

The Fatal Germ and Its Remedy Now Facts of Science.

It is the rarest thing in the world for a man to be necessarily bald. No man whose hair is not dead at the roots, need be bald if he will use Newbro's Herpicide, the new scalp antiseptic. Herpicide destroys the germ that cuts the hair off at the root; and cleans the scalp of dandruff and leaves it in a perfectly healthy condition. Mr. Mannett, in the Maryland Block, Butte, Mont., was entirely bald. In less than a month Herpicide had removed the enemies of hair growth, and nature did its work by covering his head with thick hair an inch long, and in six weeks he had a normal suit of hair. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

NEWS OF SPORTS

Doyle Signs Another Pitcher.

Manager Doyle yesterday signed Pitcher Jones, of High Point, who did good work with Proximity last year. The men will begin coming in tonight and a dozen or more will be out for practice tomorrow if the weather permits. Manager Doyle will put the team through hard practice in order to be in fine shape for Saturday's contest with Boston. A number of practice games will be arranged.

Quakers Will Play Bingham.

The baseball season at Guilford College opens Monday afternoon when the Quakers will go up against Bingham, of Mebane. The prospects for a successful season are brighter this year than for several seasons and the Quakers are confident of taking their full share of the games to be played. All the men are old ones excepting Short, who will play on second, and one or two of the twirlers.

The game tomorrow afternoon will begin at 4 o'clock. The probable line up of the team will be Stewart, catch; Perkins, Shore, Sellars, or Fike, pitch; Edwards, 1b; Benbow, 3b; Doak, ss; Davis, Thompson, Johnson, Nelson, outfielders.

On Wednesday afternoon at Guilford the Quakers go up against the Lafayette team and on Thursday afternoon the two teams will play at Cone park. The teams are great rivals and last season split even. The Quakers are hopeful of taking both games this season, however, and hard fought games are promised.

Oak Ridge Versus Whitsett.

Oak Ridge, March 25.—Oak Ridge Institute and Whitsett Institute met today upon Oak Ridge diamond in a classy game of ball, filled with ginger and snap from first call of "his umps" to play ball. Lewellyn and Earle Holt were the battery for Oak Ridge, while Ray and Young looked after Whitsett's interests. It was anybody's game until the ninth inning when Oak Ridge cinched her victory after Whitsett's first baseman suffered a slight injury that put a temporary stop to the game, and weakened Whitsett in the final effort.

Score:

Oak Ridge .. .. 1000 100 002—4
Whitsett .. .. 000 010 00 —1

Struck out—by Ray for Whitsett, 12; by Lewellyn for Oak Ridge, 7. Hits—Whitsett, 4; Oak Ridge 3. Time—1 hour and 30 minutes. Umpire—Benbow.

Racing Plants Less Valuable.

New York, March 23.—With the announcement that there will be no racing on the New York tracks this year unless the owners' liability bill is repealed came the statement today that as a result $50,000,000 worth of property has depreciated 50 per cent." This includes the big race tracks about the city, the breeding farms and the horses in training, most of which will now go on the market for what they will bring at forced sale.

It is expected that some of the tracks, like Gravesend, Jamaica and Brighton Beach, will be abandoned. Belton Park and Sheepshead Bay, it was stated today, will be kept up by caretakers in the hope that favorable legislation may be enacted.

Four Greatest Golfers Coming to America.

Chicago, March 25.—Announcement was made yesterday that the Big Four professional golfers of the world, James Braid, Harry Vardon, George Duncan and J. T. Taylor, would cross the Atlantic this year to compete in the national open championship tournament of the United States Golf association to be held at the Chicago Golf club at Wheaton. The news was brought by Stewart Gardner, of Exmoor, and James Donaldson, of Glenview, who returned from Scotland yesterday.

The tournament is to be held June 23 and 24 and it is already predicted that the event will rival any that has ever been held.

Along with statement that the four would come there was brought that the Mexican insurrection has spoiled the plans for one of the greatest golf tournaments ever held. The club of Mexico City had intended to bring over the "big four" and in addition secure all the best players of the United States and pit them against each other. The idea has been abandoned, at least for this season, and nothing has been said about its future possibilities.

Opera Managers Ask $55,000 More.

New York, March 25.—The modest sum of $55,000 in addition to the $45,000 already promised by E. T. Stotesbury, of Philadelphia, is now demanded by the local opera managers as the price of another season in the Quaker City.

This was made clear by Clarence H. Mackay in a letter to Mr. Stotesbury. It seems to have been assumed that this season's defict would be $45,000, but Mr. Mackay declares it will be nearer $100,000 and says the New York directors will assume no part of the burden.

Hat For Next Summer.

The milliners are busy designing hats for the summer season of 1911. Among the many designs is the turban of straw shown in the picture.

STRAW TURBAN.

Trailing roses and vines give a truly summery effect. It will be observed that the shape is not materially different from some of the headgear worn last season.

Housewife Suggestions.

If your irons become rough and sticky, wash in warm soapy water, dry and rub with emery paper.

A slice or two of lime or a slice of orange added to apple sauce, instead of lemon, gives a delicious flavor. A lime may be used instead of lemon to give zest to wine jelly.

When laundry soap is bought in large quantities, as is usually done, the bars should be unwrapped and placed on the top shelf of the kitchen closet to become thoroughly dry and ripened before they are used.

When sweeping a heavy rug or carpet it is a good plan to spread a newspaper on the floor and sprinkle it very lightly with water. Keep the newspaper a trifle ahead of the broom so that the dust is brushed on to it.

Don't throw away lemon peel. What you cannot use immediately for flavorings you can turn into essence of lemon quite as good as any you can buy. To make it fill a bottle with rectified spirits and when using lemons cut off the yellow part of the rind and place it in the spirits. Orange essence may be made in the same way.

Transplanting an Industry

HAVE you ever noticed how trade and industry flow through certain well-defined channels, how certain industries grow up ond identify themselves with certain localities, and then how trade currents shift and new centers spring up. The New England States have been the shoe mak ers of the country for generations.

Generation after generation of operatives growing up and handing down their skill to their children, gave New England her reputation for shoes. But capital and enterprise can do wonders. Capital and enterprise saw the advantage of supplying the South with shoes from a southern city. Lynchburg is a natural distributing and manufacturing center. Lynchburg for 35 years has been gradually making a place for herself as a shoe city. The first right energetic shoe business ever established in Lynchburg was Witt & Watkins, from which grew the Geo. D. Witt Shoe Company known everywhere among southerners today.

From this little start Lynchbrg has grown to be the leading shoe city in the South. Out of this city today goes nine-tenths of all the Southern-made shoes.

What Southern-made Shoes mean to the South

For generations before Lynchburg started the manufacture of shoes, the South had been sending millions of dollars a year, her annual shoe money, to the North in exchange for shoes. At first southern merchants were afraid to handle Lynchburg-made shoes. Soon they discovered not only were they getting as good and better profits, but they were getting better shoes to sell. Today. Lynchburg-made shoes are being sold in every city and town in the South and the buyers from northern cities are comiug to Lynchburg for their shoes.

The South is coming into her own. Instead of sending millions of dollars a year North and West, we are keeping our money at home to pay southern grocers, southern clothiers, southern farmers, southern salesmen, and to build more southern factories. There is new money. new vitality, new ginger going into the Geo. D. Witt Shoe Co. Our organization is going to grow and "Witt,s Shoes" are going to be better than ever before. Our salesmen are on the road with Fall, 1911, Samples of "Witt's Shoes." DEALERS! look them over carefully. They represent the best shoe quality that has ever gone out of Lynchburg.

Friends, everywhere, insist on a southern-made shoe and help to keep southern money in the South to work for southern prosperity. Insist on "Witt's Shoes."

Foley's Honey and Tar for the children. Is best and safest for all coughs, colds, croup, whooping-cough and bronchitis. No opiates. Howard Gardner.

PLANT ASSASSINS.

Flowers That Attract, Imprison and Kill Their Insect Victims.

Many plant murders are accomplished with a refinement of detail that makes it easy to believe that the crimes are premeditated. The sarracenias furnish an example of so called plant reasoning. These vivacious natives of the swamp lands of North America, notably Florida, have traveled from America to the botanical gardens of Europe.

Their flowers, which are purplish or of a fine yellow color, attract and invite the confidence of insects. Their leaves are rolled like a cornucopia and provided at the broad end with a lid. Into these urnlike sepulchers winged and creeping victims fall, never to return to light and air. Attracted by the color and the odor of the flowers, the victims draw near and, poised upon their stems, scent their honey. Little by little they approach the cup, hover for an instant on its edge, then begin the descent. Possibly they do not see the spearlike points set like the stakes of the fisher's weir in the lining of the cup. The victims go down between the stakes and feast on honey.

When full they turn to climb to the outer world. Again and again they ascend a hair's breadth, only to fall back, until, exhausted by their futile efforts, they drop into the poisoned water where float the sodden bodies of the flies trapped before them.

A naturalist who observed the death struggles of insects trapped by this rapacious and treacherous plant saw one lying half in, half out of the water, making desperate efforts to free itself from the trap. The lower part of its body, the part under water, was paralyzed, glued to immobility by the secretion contained in the water.

"There was something horrible," said the naturalist, "in the artifice used by the plant in its capture of the animal. The plant lures the animal to its doom by giving it a feast. The honey is a trap, and to all appearance the holder of the trap is a cold blooded, calculating assassin."—Harper's Weekly.

Quaint Servian Customs.

A quaint custom obtains in Servia, where in some towns it is usual for the inhabitants to hang a dressed doll, and sometimes two or even three of them, in the principal window of the house. This indicates that there is living there a marriageable woman, sometimes more than one, who is willing and anxious to become a bride. Another Servian custom is that of hanging a small sheaf of grain outside the house. The superstition is that if the grain is stolen there will soon be a wedding in the house; if the lady dwelling within is anxious to wed the sheaf is hung low, quite within the reach of the suitor, who may possibly be as anxious to steal it as she is to have it stolen.

Sated With Adulation.

Gayboy was paying for his luncheon.

"Why is it," he asked, with his most killing smile, "that restaurants always have charming cashiers?"

"You've got some egg on your chin, mister," said the businesslike young woman behind the desk, handing him his change and transferring her attention to the man next in line.—Chicago Tribune.

The Crust of the Earth.

It is now believed that the solid crust of the earth cannot be thicker than sixty-two miles. From the earth's internal reservoir of heat radiations are believed to be passing away into space continually, but this loss is compensated for to some extent by the heat received from the sun.

A Fierce Night Alarm

is the hoarse, startling cough of a child, suddenly attacked by croup. Often it aroused Lewis Chamblin of Manchester, O., (R. R. No. 2) for their four children were greatly subject to croup. "Sometimes in severe attacks," he wrote "we were afraid they would die, but since we proved what a certain remedy Dr. King's New Discovery is, we have no fear. We rely on it for croup and for coughs, colds or any throat or lung trouble." So do thousands of others. So may you. Even when a woman faces a mirror she may be blind to her imperfections.

Kerosene a Cleaner.

The soot that coats a frying pan can easily be taken off by sopping it with kerosene and scraping it off shortly afterward with a pot chain.

Kerosene should never be handled near the fire.

To cut the grease on the kitchen range kerosene is indispensable, but the stove should be perfectly cold before applying.

First dampen a rag with the oil and rub over the stove and follow this with a thorough rubbing with old newspapers, after which go over it with a rag dampened with a little benzine to evaporate the oil.

Do not build fire in the stove until this is evaporated, which will be generally a few hours.

Then wipe off nice and clean, after which give a coat of varnish. You will be surprised how little it will need blacking after the stove has been varnished.

The top is about the only part that becomes soiled and that will need to be attended to with brush and blacking. The rest will need nothing more than wiping off with a soft rag.

Putting kerosene and ammonia in water when washing glass ornaments will give them a brightened appearance.

Washing the window panes with kerosene will keep them from frosting in cold weather, while at the same time giving a brighter light within the rooms.

A Pretty Salad.

A pretty salad has celery and cream cheese for its foundation. Mash a 10 cent cream cheese and work with a fork until smooth. Mix with one-half cupful finely chopped celery and salt to season and make into little balls. Put a half English walnut meat on each side of every ball, arrange them on heart leaves of lettuce in the shape of a star, pour over all a French dressing and sprinkle with paprika.

"Foley's Honey and Tar is the best cough remedy I ever used as it quickly stopped a severe cough that had long troubled me," says J. W. Kuhn, Princeton, Nebr. Just so quickly and surely it acts in all cases of coughs, colds, lagrippe and lung trouble. Refuse substitutes. Howard Gardner.

No. 1251.—Charades.

I.

In war and in council my first oft appears.
My second is that which my first often wears.
Very strong is my last; 'tis a bark, not a bite.
That from which it is taken is solid, not light.
The three joined in one, if my whole you should find,
An island well known it would bring to your mind.

II.

My first may be made of my last
And carries mechanical force.
My last both lives and dyes for man,
May often be seen as a horse,
And serves him by day and by night
In ways very widely apart.

Attacks School Principal.

A severe attack on school principal, Chas. B. Allen, of Sylvania, Ga., is thus told by him. "For more than three years," he writes, "I suffered indescribable torture from rheumatism, liver and stomach trouble and diseased kidneys. All remedies failed till I used Electric Bitters, but four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me completely." Such results are common. Thousands bless them for curing stomach trouble, female complaints, kidney disorders, biliousness, and for new health and vigor. Try them. Only 50c. at Fariss-Klutz Drug Co.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

HER friends all think that a mother ought to trounce her young hopefuls four times a day, but if she happens to be only their stepmother and spanks them occasionally they want to call the police.

When you see one man avoiding another it is a safe bet that some old hen has hatched.

Many an act that has started as a joke has finished with the undertaker.

One of the tragedies of life is to be given some beautiful real lace with nothing to hang it on.

A man could credit his small son's excuses more readily had he never been a boy himself.

The difference between what a man knows and what he thinks he knows sometimes explains his unpopularity.

Nothing exasperates a man more than to have another beat him to it with a new story.

Some friendships are strong enough to stand even the strain of comparing babies.

There is nothing a bluffer wants less than a chance to show you.

One Advantage.

"My father can lick your father."

"Can he, though?"

"You bet he can!"

"Well, my mother can outtalk your mother."

Common Mistake.

Mary Anderson is going to write a book about the American man, telling him, among other things, just where he gets off.

Mary has made the mistake into which travelers fall. Seeing a few hundred masculine forms in white shirts and topped with high hats, she jumps at the conclusion that this is the American man.

No guess could be wider of the mark. Without census figures we make bold to say that the American man as a whole doesn't possess that gawky harness known as a dress suit. Neither does he make his main diet on cane heads.

A fellow in brown overalls handling a crane in a steel mill or a one galused person guiding a team of mules through a corn row comes nearer being the type. We are sorry for Mary, but her man, being purely ornamental, doesn't count.

Can't Forget.

'Tis sweet to be remembered
Unless by some old wight
Who has a mortgage on our house
And everything in sight.

Swift.

"My collector gets out of breath."

"Out of breath?"

"Yes."

"How is that?"

"I have so many running accounts that he has to hurry so to catch up with them."

Too Changeable.

"He seems a nice, steady fellow."

"He has one very bad habit."

"What is it?"

"Always breaking off a habit as soon as he has formed it for fear he will become confirmed in it."

The Only Blessing They Get.

"It is more blessed to give than to receive."

"Is that so?"

"It is said to be."

"Well, it is a mighty good thing for some of us."

Easy Road to Wealth.

Would you succeed without delay
Go get a hen and let her lay
And to the neighbors and the trade
Sell eggs, high priced and newly laid,
And with the money you can buy
What ever may attract your eye.
What's left it's well to stow away
For that annoying rainy day.

I know—I read it in a book;
It's there if you should care to look—
The way the man who owns a hen
May sport a twenty or a ten
Is most surprising, you'll admit,
When you have studied into it
And in a little while get rich
Without a single if or hitch.

You know a man who tried the turn
And didn't have results to burn?
Did he, are you prepared to swear,
Directions follow to a hair?
To get the thing exactly right
You have to read it day and night
And get the little book by heart,
And then it should be safe to start.

Yes, it's as simple as can be
And sure to be a winner. See?
Just get a hen, or if you care
To be a bloated millionaire
Procure a dozen and begin
To pile up wagon loads of tin.
Yes, get, would you be truly blest,
A hen and let her do the rest.

A FORECAST OF SUMMER MODES; GOWN WHICH WILL BE LIKED

THE air outside may be chill with snowflakes, but there is a breath of summer in the room as one gazes at this forecast of the summer styles. The gown shown is one of the newest and best of the lingerie gowns which will be worn from the time the air begins to warm up thoroughly until the chill autumn winds bring thoughts of tailor mades and heavy fabrics. The material is cotton voile, a fine grade of cotton fabric which will be much used this summer. A smart feature is the tunic effect of heavy embroidery. Combined with the frock is Mexican drawn work made in bands and lending a delightful air of "openness" to the costume. The frock is made "all in one," with the short kimono or peasant sleeve, which shows no sign of losing its popularity, and the waist is indicated by a wide satin ribbon girdle drawn through the center girdle and terminating at the back in a big chou. FRANCES WARD.

Started a National Movement.

Miss Jessie M. Goad of Springfield, O., in 1900 called a conference of city improvement associations. Delegates flocked from all over the country, and a national federation was founded. This was later merged with the American Civic association, and the work of city improvement has since been carried on by men and women.

Save Your Vases.

When valuable vases are used for table decorations they should first of all be filled with sand. This makes them stand firm, and there is less chance of their being knocked over and broken.

Uses For an Old Derby Hat.

Cut out top, cover with cloth and use for an iron holder. The other part of the felt will make socks for slippers and shoes. Brush and iron ribbon band, miter ends and sew on small gold tassels and you have a tie. Cut leather lining into strips and use for fastening up ivy and creepers. The satin lining will be useful to the home dressmaker for several things, also wire out of brim.

turban, adorned at the side with a big willow plume. The crown is straw, of course. Other materials besides velvet are used to face hats this year. Among those so employed are satin and soutache braid. The latter material is used in all its numerous widths, being laid on the hat in rows or solid.

OPINIONS OF WOMEN WORTH LISTENING TO.

"Club life has taught me the value of gentleness, generosity and justice. And the greatest of these is justice. Almost any one can be gentle or generous, if one will only try, but it means something to be just," says Mrs. William Tod Helmuth, the well known clubwoman.

Mrs. Gabrielle Stewart Mulliner, the New York lawyer, says: "The trouble with the modern unhappy marriage is not that husband and wife see too much of each other, but that they see too little. They don't need days off from a too confining companionship, because they are not companions."

"American women have been fed for years on candy coated lemons, and they've sucked away at them with the enthusiasm of gurgling infants. Pacifiers—things to keep babies quiet—are what our government has handed the women, whom it considers unfit to help make its laws." This is the interesting opinion of Mrs. Sofia Loebinger, editor of the American Suffragette.

"Chivalry belongs to both sexes. There should be a sharing of responsibilities. It is an injustice to women to shield them from duties that should interest them. Surely you American women are here for something more than a good time, even when it is offered to you. Surely you resent being criticised as pampered, idle, aimless, heartless, neurotic, butterfly women." This was said recently by Mrs. Philip Snowden, the English suffragette.

CHIC AND PRETTY TRANSPARENT EFFECTS IN NEW SEPARATE BLOUSES

Three of the Season's Daintiest Waists

AMONG the newest and best liked of the season's effects in separate blouses are the waists of transparent veiled materials, charmingly pretty in design and colorings. Three of the prettiest results of the designers' efforts are shown in the picture. These waists, by the way, may be carried out in a wide variety of materials, suiting thus the wearer's purse and taste. A simple model for indoor wear, shown at the left of the group, has a foundation of spotted ecru net trimmed with bands of guipure lace insertion, veiled with black or colored ninon, tucked in long lines to give the effects of bretelles over the shoulders and finished off with strappings of silk, satin or velvet to match the ninon. A lighter effect might be obtained by substituting bands of black silk guipure insertion for the velvet or silk strappings, while for afternoon or theater wear light jetted or sequinned strappings would be effective.

A very dainty demitoilet blouse of white net, shown in the picture, is veiled with pearl spangled ninon, which has a pretty design worked in mother-of-pearl sequins around the neck and a broad band above the waist, giving the effect of a corselet, while the pattern appears again on the same level at the edge of the sleeves. Silver cords and tassels make a pretty finish, but white or colored silk cords could be used instead to match the waistband of drawn satin. This model could be carried out in practically any combination of colors becoming to the wearer.

The third waist illustrates a very effective combination of cream and black lace. The vandyked black lace is prettily arranged to suggest a pointed corselet and deep cuffs, while a narrower piece of edging outlines the small yoke of guipure lace, which matches the lower part of the sleeves. Tiny bows of black ribbon velvet caught with oval paste buckles appear in front.

AMANDA RIDDLE.

AN ANTI-HATPIN SHOW.

Devices to Protect the Public's Features Exhibited In New York.

In one of New York's leading hotels recently there was an "anti-hatpin" exhibition. There was a large crew of life savers present, hatpin protector propagandists, who filled an entire corridor, waylaying every man or woman who passed, each showing the one and only way to keep on a hat and protect the public at the same time.

There was everything from a halo to a horse rake. The halo was something new, invented by a young California woman. It was a beautiful gold band fitting into the crown of the hat with little gold tabs through which hairpins were run. The hatpin was eliminated altogether, and in the case of the hat blowing off the halo would remain, a thing of beauty, or it could be utilized for a new kind of theater cap.

The favorite device shown by innumerable inventors was a natty tip of some kind to fit over the exposed point of the hatpin. Men and women both had these in many varieties, most of them brilliant with rhinestones.

"I thought they were diamonds," said a clubwoman who came up to examine them.

"Oh, no," said the exhibitor deprecatingly, with a glance at the other women passing; "they are very good stones, but if they were diamonds I should have them padlocked."

HINTS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE.

To remove scorch from linen cut an onion in half and rub the scorched part with it, then soak in cold water. This is an excellent remedy, and the marks soon disappear.

After using spoons for eggs, which always stain them, the following method will be found handy: Simply get a little ordinary salt and rub slightly with the thumb and finger, when all stain and smell will instantly disappear, leaving a bright, smooth polish.

If when reading or sewing by lamplight a sheet of white paper is placed under the lamp it will be found that a far stronger light is shed all over the room.

Cucumber rind cut into thin strips and put about where ants abound will invariably drive them away.

Put any ends of soap with a little water into a pan and let simmer till dissolved. When slightly cool add enough white sand to form a stiff paste, roll into balls and set in a cool place to harden. This preparation is excellent for scrubbing kitchen tables, chairs, etc.

"Helen Pink" the New Color.

"Helen pink" is the new color—or, rather, the new shade of pink—which is sweeping over the country. Fashionable milliners and dressmakers have already put on sale throughout the land hats and dresses in this new shade of pink, named after President Taft's only daughter. Competent judges declare that "Helen pink" is just as ravishing as "Alice blue," named after Alice Roosevelt, now Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, was a few years ago.

New Style Nursery.

A new style of nursery in vogue in the homes of the rich consists of a roof incased in glass and heated by steam radiators. It is filled with growing plants, fountains, sand piles and everything to make it dear to the heart of a child. Some of these roofs even have space enough for games of croquet. The sun heats the glass so effectually that often all the windows have to be left open for ventilation, giving fresh air in abundance with a delightfully tropical warmth.

Defect In Our School System.

"The defect in our public school system is that it inculcates disrespect for the normal occupations of the home. Our girls are taught everything except the one supremely important thing—how to be good wives and mothers," says Dr. Jane E. Robbins, executive secretary of the Public Education association.

THE FRISKY HOBBYHORSE.

On George's fifth birthday his grandfather gave him a wooden horse—a lovely horse, white with blue spots and harnessed in red. Joe, George's little brother, was only three, and so he was not allowed to ride this fiery steed by himself. Instead his grandfather set him astride his foot and gave him a fine ride there. But Joe turned wistful eyes toward his stalwart brother and the wooden horse. How it rocked! Its mane and tail waved in the breeze, and it fairly seemed to be alive.

George rode the horse all the morning, and the horse was good and faithful and kept on going, although it grew very tired. But George did not grow tired; on the contrary, the faster he went the faster he wanted to go. At last, finding the horse was going more slowly, he dismounted, and, running into the yard, he came back with a long switch. Armed with this, he mounted and started again, but the horse was tired and did not go so fast as George wanted. George struck it with the whip.

At that a remarkable thing happened. That good, faithful wooden horse grew so angry and indignant that, taking the bit between his teeth, he bolted out the front door, tumbling his rider on the floor.

"My goodness gracious me!" exclaimed George. "My wooden horse has run away. Did you ever hear of such a thing?"

But Joe, who was only three, had not yet had time to hear of much of anything, and so he could offer no suggestions.

"Horse all gone," he said sadly.

"I'm going to find him and bring him back. You can come, too, if you want," announced George.

Only too eager at the idea of such an adventure, Joe scrambled to his feet and put his hand in his big brother's. Together they set out to bring back the runaway.

They ran down the stairs and out at the front door. Looking down the road, they saw their horse merrily rocking along a short distance ahead.

"We shall soon catch him. He is not going very fast," cried George as they started confidently in pursuit.

But no sooner did the horse see them coming than he kicked up his rockers and made off down the road at a great rate.

George and Joe ran until they were out of breath and they had to sit down by the roadside to rest. But as soon as the horse saw that they were resting he proceeded to rest, too, so that the boys were encouraged to take up the chase again when they got their breath. The horse enjoyed it tremendously. He even turned and came back when he saw the boys were too out of breath to catch him, and he rocked merrily about just beyond their reach, only to start again at full speed when they made an effort to catch him.

At last, after he had done this many times, the boys began to get discouraged.

"Oh, dear, I don't believe we will ever catch him," said George.

Just then along came a man in a cart, whereat George was fired with an idea.

"Please may we get in your cart?" he said. "We want to catch my birthday horse that has run away."

"Why, certainly. Jump right in," said the man.

So in the brothers scrambled and lay down in the bottom of the wagon so that the horse should not see them.

By this means they got so close to the runaway that the man was able to call out to him:

"Hello, horse! Where are you going?"

"I'm running away," replied the horse cheerfully.

"Well, I think you've run away long enough. Suppose you run home again."

"I don't want to," replied the horse.

But before he had time to say any more the man had reached out of the wagon and caught him by the bridle.

He made the runaway fast to the back of the wagon and then took the boys home.

The spotted horse never ran away again, but that was only because he never got the chance.

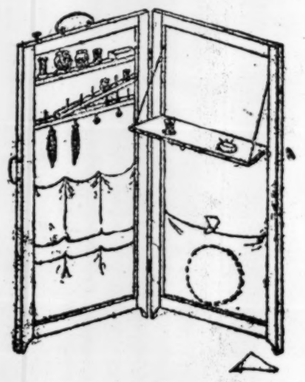
HINTS FOR THE BUSY HOUSEWIFE

Convenient and Comprehensive Sewing Cabinet.



A Missouri man is responsible for this new sewing cabinet. It can be stood up near the owner like a screen or when closed is easily carried by handles at the side and top. The cabinet is made in two parts, hinged together. Inside is a series of spool supporting arms, with pegs to set the spools on. There are cushions for pins and flannel for needles and hooks to hang floss or other sewing silk on. Also there are pockets to keep material or patterns. On the other side is a drop panel on which the articles in immediate use can be placed, and below this is a larger pocket, adapted to hold embroidery and the hoops used in this kind of work. Such a cabinet will hold everything that a woman needs for sewing except a machine, and, being compact in arrangement, can be carried about easily.

To Bake a Ham.

Unless when too salt, from not being sufficiently soaked, a ham, particularly a young and fresh one, eats much better baked than boiled and remains longer good. The safer plan is to lay it in plenty of cold water overnight. The following day soak it for an hour or more in warm water, wash it thoroughly, trim smoothly off all rusty parts and lay it with the rind downward into a coarse flour and water paste rolled to about an inch thick. Moisten the edges, draw and pinch them together and fold them over on the upper side of the ham, taking care to close them so that no gravy can escape. Bake it in a well heated but not fierce oven. A very small ham will require three hours' baking and a large one five. The crust and the skin must be removed while it is hot.

REVIEW.

Golden Text—Happy is that people whose God is the Lord. Ps. 144.15.

The following review may be used as a complete lesson in itself or as a review of the twelve preceding lessons.

The date and title of each lesson, where found, the Golden Text, and one question from each lesson follow.

Jan. 1. The Kingdom Divided. I Kings xii:1-24. Golden Text—He that walketh with the wise shall be wise: but a companion of fools shall be destroyed. Prov. xiii:20.

(1.) Verses 12-24 — What resulted from Rehoboam's answer, and what would probably have been the result if he had granted the request of the people?

Jan. 8. Jeroboam Makes Idols for Israel to Worship. I Kings xii:25—xiii:6. Golden Text—Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven images. Ex. xx:4.

(2.) Verses 31-33—How much aid are pictures, paintings, or statuary of the saints, or high class music, to the spiritual worship of the unseen God?

Jan. 15. Asa's Good Reign in Judah. 2 Chron. xv:1-15. Golden Text—Be ye strong, therefore, and let not your hands be weak: for your work shall be rewarded. 2 Chron. xv:7.

(3.) Verse 3—What is the effect of education, and true religion upon the nation?

Jan. 22. Omri and Ahab Lead Israel Into Greater Sin. I Kings xvi:15-33. Golden Text. Righteousness exalteth a nation but sin is a reproach to any people. Prov. xiv:34.

(4.) Verses 17-20—What reason is there to believe that God some times brings about civil war when he wishes to destroy a nation, or to reform its abuses?

Jan. 29. Jehoshaphat's Good Reign in Judah. 2 Chron. xvii:1-13.—Golden Text—Seek ye, first the kingdom of God and his righteousness: and all these things shall be added unto you. Matt. vi:33.

(5.) Verses 1-4—What advantage was it to Jehoshaphat in being the son of a good father and the successor of a good king?

Feb. 5. Elijah, the Prophet, Appears In Israel. 1 Kings 17. Golden Text—They that seek the Lord shall not want any good thing. Ps. xxxiv:10.

(6.) Verse 1—What, if any reason is there to suppose that the spirit of prophecy is a thing of the past?

Feb. 12. Elijah's Victory Over the Prophets of Baal. 1 Kings xviii:1-2, 17-40. Golden Text—Choose you this day whom ye will serve. Josh. xxiv:15.

(7.) Verse 21—Why did not Ahab slay Elijah when he had him in his power and seeing he had been hunting him for this purpose?

Feb. 19. Elijah's Flight and Return. 1 Kings xviii:41—xix:21. Golden Text—They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength. Isaiah xl:31.

(8.) Verses 3-4—Why is a good man more liable to be tripped by the Devil when he has been having unusual success than at any other time?

Feb. 26. Elijah Meets Ahab in Naboth's Vineyard. 1 Kings 21. Golden Text—Take heed and beware of covetousness. Luke xii:15.

(9.) Verses 17-24—What hope is there that any who persist in wrong doing, will be able to escape the legitimate penalty?

March 5. Elijah Goes Up By a Whirlwind Into Heaven. 2 Kings ii:1-18. Golden Text—Enoch walked with God, and he was not, for God took him. Gen. v:24.

(10.) Verse 1—Where is heaven? Is it a place or a condition or both? Why? (This question must be answered in writing by members of the club.)

March 19. Elisha the Prophet Restores a Child to Life. 2 Kings iv:8-37. Golden Text—The gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Rom. vi:23.

(11.) Verses 9-11—If a woman of godly character frequently entertains a man of God, in these days, what effect does it have upon the neighbors, and why is it so?

March 19. Defeat Through Drunkenness. (Temperance Lesson.) I Kings xx:12-21. Golden Text—It is not for kings to drink wine, nor for princes strong drink. Prov. xxxi:4.

(12.) Verses 15-16—What proportion of drinkers men attain distinction, or hold the love and confidence of the community?

Lesson for Sunday, April 2, 1911. Elisha Heals Naaman, the Syrian. 2 Kings 5.

VALUABLE PRIZES FOR BIBLE STUDY.

We call the attention of our readers to the "Suggestive Questions on the Sunday School Lesson" in this issue. They only need to be read to be appreciated, and if read carefully, comparing the questions with the Scripture upon which they are based, they will not fail to impress the reader with their great significance.

These questions are inspiring sermons, addresses, and newspaper articles in hundreds of towns; they are a stimulus and help to thousands of Bible Class Teachers and students. Almost any one question will suggest as much thought to the average reader, as would take a newspaper column to express, and the thought will be his own.

The questions are not dry tomes, they are fresh, interesting, and suggestive, and one can learn from them, by way of suggestion, more than by reading an entire magazine devoted to the philosophy of every-day life.

These questions cover the all-round needs of human nature, while they are a wonderful help in elucidating, and enforcing the Bible lesson upon which they are based.

Don't fail to read them from now on, and be ready to start in the easy Bible contest which is to commence in a few weeks, and thus you may hope to win one of the beautiful gold medals.

See our announcement last week and those that are to follow. Subscribe for The Telegram today, using the attached coupon and get in line with this popular Bible study movement.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

LOTS of people speak before they think, and some never speak after, which is not saying that they ever ran across any obstruction to conversation.

The trouble about the social swim is that it insistently calls for such a diversity of expensive bathing suits.

Don't try to restrict your conversation to sensible things. You are sure to be misunderstood if you do.

After a man has acquired a bad reputation he invariably finds that it has him.

Some people live at such a rapid pace that one must expect that they will become giddy.

In the race for the desirable some of the girls win by a neck and others by a dimple.

It always makes a resounding crash when a saint falls down and breaks his halo.

A thing that is conceived in mockery and wrought out in malice generally gets what is coming to it.

One reason why our friends like to give us advice is because they can in this way work off a lot of half malicious feeling they have accumulated toward us.

Departed.

Once "twenty-three" was all the rage
In talk or on the printed page.
One bumped into it everywhere,
For it was truly in the air,
And people said it in their sleep.
Now seldom does it make one weep.
That number flip you never hear.
Where is the slang of yesteryear?

Back in the ages known to fame
They used to hear McGinty's name
At every crook and every turn.
They had McGintys then to burn.
The bottom of the sea he found.
Those times when he was loafing round.
But now we miss those antics queer.
Where is the slang of yesteryear?

And even farther back than that
They hollered at you, "Shoot the hat!"
Whereas the hats that nowadays
The haughty female head displays
Are just as worthy, every bit,
Of shooting, who will not admit?
Though the request no more rings clear.
Where is the slang of yesteryear?

You wonder really where it goes?
It had to skip, I'll tell you those,
Because there isn't room for all.
The modern slang word has the call;
The old is from the language torn,
For every minute one is born.
The ancient slang has pulled its freight,
For man must keep right up to date.

No Cause For Alarm.

"Hello, Jones."
"How are you?"
"All right. But, say, you seem to know an awful lot."
"Think so?"
"Yes."
"Well, don't worry. I won't tell."

All the Same to Him.

"Eighty years old, and he can read just as well without glasses as with them."
"Marvelous!"
"Nothing of the sort. It is a shame, that is what it is. He never learned to read either with or without."

Overlooked.

"There goes a man who never got caught."
"Perhaps he never did anything."
"Didn't he, though?"
"Champion foot racer?"
"No, so slow that they thought he was going the other way."

Yielded to Temptation.

"You seem to be hale and hearty for your age."
"I never was sick a day in my life."
"Never had to call a doctor?"
"No."
"And never took any medicine?"
"Only just enough patent medicine to get my picture in the paper."

Looked Higher.

"Jones doesn't appear to have any political ambitions."
"But he has, though."
"I never see him at the ward meetings."
"No. He has saved his money to buy a seat in the senate."

The Idea.

"He has such good taste!"
"Has he?"
"Oh, exquisite!"
"I never noticed it."
"Mercy! Haven't you observed how devoted he is to me?"

Right at Home.

"I wish I could discover something like radium."
"Why don't you, then?"
"It isn't so easy."
"Hasn't your wife got a temper?"

Cynical.

"I have a good memory for both names and faces."
"A touching quality, isn't it?"

Second Choice.

She couldn't win a nobleman,
For she was lacking cash,
And so she married pleasantly
A man who juggled hash.

The Great Adventure

And How It Solved the Problem of Four People

By CLARISSA MACKIE

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

Miss Penlow yawned behind her pretty hand and blinked her blue eyes at Roderick. "Dear boy," she murmured wearily, "this is the seven hundredth time, more or less, that I've said I don't want to be married yet awhile. I want to enjoy my single blessedness for another year. I want to have a good time, and I see my way clear to have it now that Aunt Bee has invited me to spend a winter in New York. Next fall, after the summer abroad she has promised me, I'll be ready to marry you and go to housekeeping in that dear, horrible, stuffy little apartment which, I am sure, is all we can afford."

"You have evidently thought the matter over carefully. Your reasons are most excellent ones, and I dare say you will have a splendid time with Mrs. Frake. When are you going to start on your journey into the world?"

"A week from today. And what are you going to do, Rod? You spoke of joining Dick Ellis on his hunting trip into the north. Didn't you say you might get a picture up there among the trappers and guides?" Edith Penlow spoke rather absently, as one who tried to force an interest in a very tiresome subject.

"I am planning to join Ellis on Thursday. We shall be gone all winter. I withheld my answer until I might know your decision, Edith. I will see you before I go."

Out in the silent street Roderick Wakely strode swiftly along the frosty pavements, his hands thrust deep in his coat pockets, his eyes searching the gloom ahead, as if they were trying to pierce the gray veil of the future that seemed stretched before him. Before the veil Edith Penlow's dainty figure seemed to dance alluringly, yet with diminishing clearness, until at last she vanished and there was nothing but the gray veil and little else beyond.

At the door of his rooms he paused a long while, pondering over Edith's assurance of her love for him. At last he flung his head up and drew a sharp breath. "What a donkey I am!" he muttered angrily. "Of course she wants a good time, and I'm a selfish beast to expect her to make the sacrifice. I'll just clear out with Ellis, and the air of the north will drive the cobwebs from my brain and make me see things straight."

On Thursday he set forth with Dick Ellis bound for the Canadian woods. As they left Boston behind in a mist of smoke Roderick thought, with a sharp pang, that spring would have rolled around before he saw it again. And Edith—for she would return at Easter before going abroad with her aunt—would she have forgotten him—would she learn to care for another? Dick Ellis broke in on his reverie with some commonplace, and thereafter the talk was all about game and fishing and Roderick's pictures.

Anjou was a quaint enough settlement of little houses, crowded together as if for warmth from the wintry blasts that swept screaming through the woods, shaking the trees to the very roots and snapping dead branches with a sound like pistol shots. In the house of Ellis' guide, an Englishman named Peter Rush, they found lodgings, and Roderick secured the empty loft over the kitchen for his own especial retreat. The stovepipe from the big heater ran through the loft and warmed it comfortably, but Roderick loved to lie near the trapdoor in the floor and look down into the smoke wreathed room where Ellis and other neighboring sportsmen gathered about the stove and told their stories.

Roderick made several sketches that might develop into the great picture, but he felt no especial enthusiasm about pushing his work forward. Edith's attitude had somehow set the machinery of his life out of adjustment. He told himself that only she could make matters right again. Every mail he watched for a letter from her, but the letters came rarely and were lacking in the great essential that he craved—her assurance that she missed him in her new life; that she longed for the time when they would no longer be separated, when the year's probation would be over. But she never wrote of these things. Her letters were mere frothy jottings of her gay life—of her happiness—and a careless word of affection at the end, sometimes forgotten after all.

One morning he took sketching block and pencil and went forth on the trail of Ellis, who had been gone hours before hot on the track of a brown bear which had invaded their storehouse the night before.

Roderick paused to rest on the fallen trunk of a giant beech when his startled glance took in a scene that he never forgot.

Beyond him in a small clearing carpeted with a soft drift of newly fallen snow there stood a girl and a deer, quite unconscious of his presence. It was evident that each had emerged from the woods on opposite sides of the clearing and were now poised in startled contemplation of each other.

The girl, small and slender and graceful, wore a long red cape that enveloped her like the cloak of Little Red Riding Hood of nursery tales, and over her fair hair was drawn a red hood, framing the pale oval of her lovely young face, out of which shone eyes as shy and brown as those of the deer, which stood in an attitude of pitiable fright.

So they stood for a whole minute while Roderick transferred their heads to his block with quick, sure strokes of his crayon. Then he thrust both in his pocket and made a sharp sound with his lips. Instantly the animal turned about and leaped into the forest from whence it had come, while the girl leaned against a tree, one little hand against her palpitating bosom, staring at Roderick.

"You were frightened—there was no cause for alarm—but it was no doubt startling to come face to face with such a wild creature," he said, talking rather volubly to enable her to recover herself. "How is it that you are alone and so far from the settlement? Are you not afraid?" asked Roderick curiously.

"Indeed, no," she said in a surprised tone. "I know every inch of these woods, but I don't know all the denizens thereof. Now I can add another to my acquaintances." She smiled in such a friendly way that Roderick took the compliment to himself.

"Thank you," he said courteously. "I am proud to be received by the lady of the forest."

She blushed beautifully and bit the red curve of her lip thoughtfully. "Really it seems such a rude thing to say, but I didn't mean you, sir. I meant the deer was a new acquaintance."

Roderick reddened as he laughed at his own confusion. "Serves me right," he said emphatically, "for being such a conceited jackanapes. If I can be of no further service to you I may as well get along after Ellis."

"Oh, do you know Mr. Ellis?" she asked. "Is he here?"

"He's staying in Anjou for the hunting. I'm with him. My name's Wakely—Roderick Wakely."

"Then you're the painter. Mr. Ellis has often mentioned your name to us. He always comes over to the lodge to see father and me. We have a camp away back here. Tell Mr. Ellis we shall be glad to see him and his friend too." She smiled back over her shoulder and disappeared, while Roderick whirled about and tramped back to the cabin, forgetting everything save the fact that at last the great picture was at hand.

After that the weeks flew rapidly while Rodireck worked on his picture, tramped the woods hoping for a glimpse of Katherine Deering's red cloak or joined Ellis in his trips after brown bear and deer. Many evenings they spent at the lodge with Colonel Deering and his daughter while the great fire blazed on the hearth and threw flickering shadows over their faces.

As the spring came on Roderick's engagement to Edith Penlow seemed to fade into a dull background that he had called life—before he had met Katharine Deering and fallen in love with her sweetness and shy simplicity.

Edith's letters had grown fewer until they ceased altogether. Then one morning there came a letter that fell into his life like a bombshell of unpleasantness.

"I am tired of New York," she wrote rather petulantly, "so if you are ready to go to Paris I shall prepare to be married in June. Aunt Bee has given up the trip for this year."

In his perplexity Roderick laid the case before Dick Ellis. The latter gnawed his pipestem savagely and looked at Roderick through narrowed lids.

"You're all over it, eh, Rod?" he asked bluntly.

"I'm ashamed to say I am," nodded the other. "I didn't know I was such a cad."

"You're not, only neither of you is in love with the other. Of course it's Edith Penlow." His voice lowered.

"Yes."

"She doesn't care a rap for you—never did! She's in love with me. Fact! No, I'm not conceited, old man. It happens I know it, only—only it was too late. You see, I love her, too, but when I asked her she had promised you. What time does the express leave the junction?" he asked suddenly, springing to his feet.

"Three-ten this afternoon."

"Then I'm off. Have Rush send my traps down. Wish you luck, Rod. You needn't wish me any. I know I'll win out."

Roderick whistled softly as he carefully wrapped his finished picture and tucked it under his arm. "The Great Adventure," it was called, this meeting of the timid girl and the frightened deer, and as he went through the woods toward Colonel Deering's camp he was conscious that he was setting forth upon the greatest adventure of his life. When he saw Katharine coming through the cathedral aisles of the forest toward him one glimpse of her face caused him to drop the great picture in the snow and take her in his arms.

The Hobble Hair Dress

MODEL AND DESCRIPTION BY MADAM LULU BUTLER, PRINCIPAL, MADAM BUTLER'S SCHOOL OF BEAUTIFYING ARTS, DETROIT, MICH.

THE HOBBLE (See Note) Wave the hair entirely around the head. A side parting is made and that portion of the hair brought to the crown of the head and formed into puffs and ringlets.

The main portion, or unwaved center of the hair is fastened and made into puffs and ringlets which are pinned to a wire frame covered with crepe wool. It is this wire foundation which makes the hair stand out. The finishing band of ribbon produces the Hobble effect.

TO THE MODERN QUACK.

[After reading the early history of medicine.]

Ye makers of fortunes gigantic,
Quack venders of potions and pills,
Who now give us nothing romantic
Except your advertisement bills,
Consider the wondrous concoctions
Put up in the bottle or box
By doctors aforetime and, wasting no more time,
Just pull up your socks.

"Digestion," they'd ask, "misbehaving?"
Or: "Blisters on both of your heels?
Tut, tut! Take an ivory shaving
Thrice daily an hour before meals."
Such sorts of medicinal dainties,
Backed up by a ponderous men,
They'd foist upon folly as certain of jolly
Well curing the spleen.

They'd (almost) put up in a flagon
And afterward offer for sale
Pink hairs from the head of a dragon,
Blue tufts from a unicorn's tail.
And, could they have only got at them,
No doubt they'd have mixed with their drinks
For troublesome tummies the wrappings of mummies
Or chips off the sphinx.

But you, did we ask that a pimple
Be cured with a balsam of bats,
Would only look hopelessly simple
Or rudely ejaculate, "Rats!"
Come, give up your commonplace nostrums.
Present something quaint to our view.
Those picturesque liars could always find buyers,
So why shouldn't you? —Punch.

Milady's Mirror

Here Are the Latest Beauty Stunts.

Look in the mirror every morning and think, "How well I am looking!" This is the "beauty thought."

Use almond meal instead of soap for washing the face and give your face an ironing out with ice occasionally.

Close your mouth when you sleep and avoid having hollows behind your ears.

Sleep on your back and do not use a pillow. Sleeping on the side causes puffs under the eyes.

To keep your eyelids from sagging pinch them every day.

Give your skin regular meals like you have yourself—skin food of cold cream or something similar—and keep away wrinkles.

Put cold cream on your scrawny elbows and they will soon get fat and rosy.

Never say a word with an S in it unless you follow it with a Z chaser. S sounds produce hollows in the throat; Z rounds them out again.

Pinch the upper eyelid gently toward the nose and back again twice every night and your eyes will not sink back in your head.

Dry meals are the only hope of fat women for reducing.

Don't wear corsets.

Use from three to six eggs for washing the hair.

This is what Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Ledbetter said on January 22:

"Gentlemen: Last night our daughter, age five years, was taken suddenly with pneumonia. We used 1-2 box of Mother's Joy as directed, and today she is almost well, thanks to the good remedy so near at hand and so cheap. This was a violent case, and hope you success. 520 Laura avenue."

Once in a great while you meet a woman who is given to retailing gossip—but the majority are wholesale distributors.
